

BADLY BITTEN little girl has her bandaged doll for company after she was attacked by a dog on Discovery Island Sunday afternoon. Three-year-old June Krogstad went to the island off Oak Bay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Krogstad, 723 Lily Ave. She and another child were playing with the dog when it attacked her. No one saw what happened but June got bitten on the face and the leg. The other child was unhurt. June was rushed back to land and Oak Bay fire department took her to Royal Jubilee Hospital where she was stitched up. Nurses in the children's ward where she is detained bandaged her doll to look just like her. (Irving Strickland Photo.)

New Trade Plan Urged For Backward Nations

KIN TROUBLE

Lawyer Leaves Ruby Case

DALLAS (AP)—Houston lawyer Percy Foreman said today he was pulling out of the Jack Ruby case because of disagreements with members of Ruby's family. Foreman took over from Melvin Bell as chief defence counsel for the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald late last week.

Foreman said the disagreement was over his relations with the press.

He said Eve Grant, one of Ruby's sisters, advised him to limit his discussions with reporters to "no comment." Foreman said he thought that was wrong.

The 51-year-old lawyer had met with Ruby Sunday for the first time since agreeing last Thursday to take over the defence of the killer of President Kennedy's accused assassin.

He had said he would meet again today with Ruby, 52-year-old night club operator who was found guilty of murder with malice and given the death penalty on March 15 for the slaying of Oswald.

BOWING OUT

But Foreman told reporters at the courthouse that he was bowing out, and read them a letter he said he had written to Ruby, telling him of his decision.

Telling of his disagreement with Mrs. Grant, Foreman said he felt that Ruby had been tried and convicted in news media before his trial in court. He said he thought it necessary to keep the public informed of developments in the case.

Two members of Ruby's original defence team—Joe Tomahill of Jasper, Tex., and Phil Burleson of Dallas—worked with Foreman after Ruby dismissed Bell a week ago.

Foreman had a long session with the other two lawyers Sunday and afterward cautiously showed optimism, saying:

"I certainly hope to reverse the sentence. But it would be presumptuous for me to make a prediction... I am no miracle man... I have no script and no bag of tricks."

DOCTORS 'DERELICT' ON SMOKES

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP)—A top-ranking surgeon said today the American Medical Association is "derelict" in its duty for failing to urge that all cigarette packages and advertising carry a health hazard warning.

Dr. Alton Ochsner, emeritus professor of surgery, Tulane University, and a pioneer in indicting cigarette smoking as a major cause of lung cancer, made the statement in addressing the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

"Doctors should take the lead," said Dr. Ochsner. "This is a health problem."

PLANE CRASHES INTO HOUSE

'Beautiful Turn'... Then Disaster

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—John Shaw stood in his front yard, answering his wife's wave from the plane overhead.

Then the aircraft started into a turn, spun out of control, and dropped.

Mrs. Theodore Westfall was unaware that her husband, an amateur pilot, was in the plane but she, too, noticed it from a point a mile away.

Both learned with horror that the single-engine Trojan craft had slammed into a house in this Okanagan city.

Mrs. Blanche Shaw, 36, died instantly. Westfall, 34, was in critical condition today with multiple injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hillman, both in the house at the time, somehow escaped injury. They promised they would come and fly over the house and I was waiting for them out in the yard," said Shaw, a saw-mill worker.

"They made a beautiful turn. Ted is a good flier. They started to make a second turn. It looked perfectly good to me but they must have been caught in a downdraft."

Montreal Canadiens, led by old pros Bernie Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau, captured the National Hockey League championship Sunday with a 2-1 victory over New York Rangers.

Victory gave Canadiens 85 points, one more than Chicago Black Hawks, who nipped Boston 4-3.

By holding Rangers to one goal, Montreal's Charlie Hodge won the Vezina Trophy. Along with the cup, awarded to the goalkeeper of the team with least goals against.

Chicago wound up with the leading scorer in Stan Mikita (89 points) and the top goal-getter in Bobby Hull. Mikita, who also wins $1,000, beat out Hull by two points. Hull's total included 43 goals.

Finn to Mediate Cyprus Trouble

GENEVA (UPI)—UN Secretary-General Thant today asked Finnish diplomat Sakari Tuomioja to become UN political mediator on Cyprus.

Authoritative sources said Tuomioja, the 52-year-old Finnish ambassador to Sweden, accepted the job, pending approval from the British, Turkish and Greek governments.

The sources said Thant will begin soon to win that approval.

Thant and Tuomioja met for 90 minutes today at UN European headquarters here. After the meeting Thant confirmed that "we discussed the question of naming a mediator."

Thant also conferred with Indian General Prem Singh Gyani, the military commander of the United Nations peace force on Cyprus.

The secretary-general held talks on Cyprus after opening the United Nations conference on trade and development.

Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios is understood to be willing to accept Tuomioja as mediator.

Tuomioja, however, has so far declined to make his own views public. Asked whether he would accept the job, he said he would not comment until after his meeting with Thant.

UN FORCE 'ACTIVE' SOON

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations Cyprus force will probably be declared operational before the end of this week, it was learned today.

An informant close to negotiations of formation of the force said the action will likely be taken soon after the force commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani of India, returns to Cyprus.

Gyani was in Geneva today to meet with Secretary-General U Thant and was reported planning to go back to Nicosia Wednesday to take command of the Canadian contingent already working under UN orders.

Hostages Held Briefly

NICOSIA (CP)—Shooting broke out today near the Turkish-Cypriot village of Louroudjina in Cyprus and a number of hostages were taken by the opposing sides, government and Turkish-Cypriot sources said today.

It was understood that an exchange of hostages was agreed by both sides.

U Thant Appeals At Geneva Meet

GENEVA (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant appealed today for new patterns of planning world trade that would raise the living standards of the poor countries.

He said the Communist world should be allowed to play a larger role in the international marketplace.

"How long shall we permit economic forces to control human relations?" he asked at the opening of a massive UN conference on trade and development.

His speech soft-pedaled the classical methods of reciprocal trade deals being pressed here by the United States and some of its industrialized trading partners.

Thant concentrated instead on the needs of the have-not countries and said they could only be met by over-all planning of world trade to counter the underdeveloped countries' loss of income.

LAY GROUNDWORK

The Secretary General said he expects the conference to lay the groundwork for new trade policies and work out some sort of instrumentality for carrying them out. This was an apparent allusion to a Communist proposal for a new international trade organization under the United Nations—firmly opposed by the west.

"The emergence of the socialist countries, already advanced on the road to industrialization, as gradually expanding trading nations, has created strong reasons for their fuller integration into the international economy," Thant said.

He told trade ministers and other leading delegates from more than 120 nations:

"You can hardly do less than provide mankind, both in the under-developed and in the developed countries with a framework of principles and active policy to make a trade a real vehicle of progress toward economic development and thus help to secure universal prosperity and peace for this and succeeding generations."

Thant flew here from New York to open the conference.

SEES UNIQUE ATMOSPHERE

He said a "unique atmosphere of agreement" prevailed over the convening of the session.

"A long chain of events has contributed over many years to the growing conviction that the United Nations must make a determined effort to deal jointly with problems of trade and problems of development or run the risk of frustrating the efforts of the organization to maintain world peace."

Thant said a large part of the world usually described as "developing" was in fact not developing, or not developing fast enough.

Such countries were not only lagging more and more behind the industrial societies but in certain cases their living standards were deteriorating, especially taking into account their population growth.

He said there must be some

Dief Cries 'Emergency' Over Play

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker tried unsuccessfully in the Commons today to launch a full-dress emergency debate on the CBC's intention to televise a controversial Easter program, The Grave, Wednesday. (See Page 18.)

Mr. Diefenbaker said advance publicity for the show has outraged religious feelings of Christians across Canada. It promises to be "a flagrant, scandalous and sacrilegious insult to the majority of Canadians."

Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled Mr. Diefenbaker's motion out of order on grounds the subject can be discussed during the budget debate later in the day.

A few minutes before Mr. Diefenbaker moved to set aside the normal business of the House, John B. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to State Secretary Lamontagne, said the program is an allegorical account in modern dress of the death and disappearance of the body of a leader.

LOS ANGELES

Mud River Flows From Hills

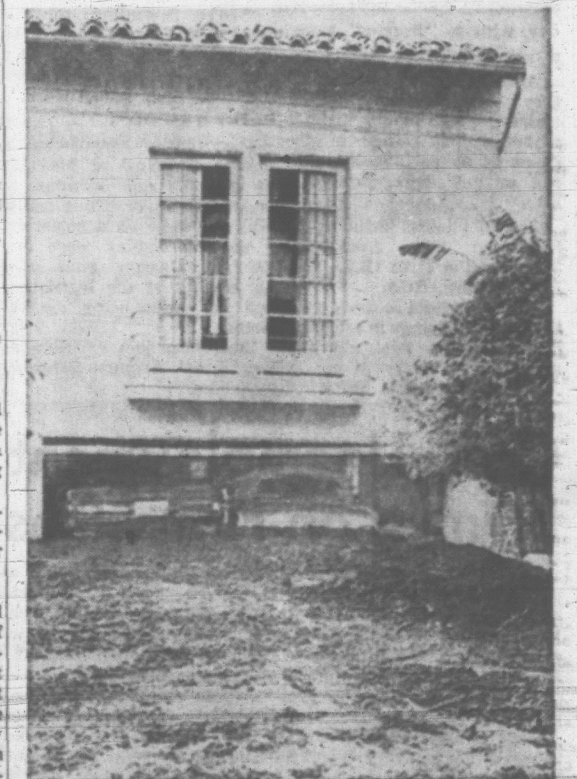

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rivers of rich, brown mud topped with debris from recent brush fires swept across streets, sidewalks and lawns here today as firemen and hillside residents fought in pouring rain to save threatened homes and cars.

Firemen in the Glendale area warned motorists Sunday night to avoid areas where a series of major brush fires denuded hills last week. Spokesmen said cars were having trouble staying on mud-slick roads.

"It's like trying to drive a car on a slippery dance floor," they said.

"Mud is coming down one street, going through the houses and moving parked cars down the street," said a Glendale fireman.

The rainfall was continuing and skies weren't expected to clear until late today.

MUCH MUD was scene at Glendale, Calif., today, as heavy rains poured onto area where brush fires burned last week. Here the mud fills driveway in from street trapping two cars, one bought only a few days ago, in a basement garage. (AP Wire photo.)

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

There was a time when a man's home was his castle. But times change, and so do castles.

For John Ryck, 3520 Henderson, his birdhouse was his castle, a magnificent hand-carved job with turretted towers, draw bridge, tiny windows, buttresses, escarpments and so on. He made it himself.

For three years it stood on a promontory at Richmond Apartments, the corner of Leighton, an impressive brown and green, four-compartment home for four wren families.

Mrs. Anna Walker, who looks after the apartments, last noticed the castle Thursday. When the owner looked out at the weekend, it was gone.

"Who would do such a cheap thing?" Mrs. Walker wondered.

Who indeed?

Ex-mayor of Victoria Percy George is not resigning as public utilities commissioner because of ill-health, as stated in a news item on page 2 of Saturday's Times.

"I am resigning because I am 74 years of age and have been at work for something like 62 years," Mr. George said today. "I feel I have earned a rest."

Mr. George admitted he is now undergoing a check-up before taking a trip east.

"But that does not mean I am in ill-health," he said.

"If a postman is a good Christian, he should be able to give a silent blessing as he goes from door to door," writes a Victoria postman in the Christ Church Cathedral newsletter The Anvil.

"As I travel around my daily route, I carry with me the whole story of humanity. In my mail there are letters of love, happiness, sorrow, suffering, life and death—the most important of all news."

"It is because of my association with the church and God that I find my daily work easier. I meet people of the same faith—people of other faiths—and the most difficult people I meet are people of no faith at all."

"A postman meets daily more members of the church than any clergyman, and he is asked questions. We must be careful to leave behind a better image than that often presented."

First impressions are lasting, they say, and you can't blame some visitors for drawing the wrong conclusions about Victoria. Especially if they arrive via the airport.

The old building is bad enough, but even that sad sight wasn't quite as shocking as the woman who showed up for work behind one of the U-Drive counters the other day with pin curlers in her hair!

There is no quick way of telling the sex of a seagull, says Victoria bird trainer Cecil Hyndman, who operates a bird-animal sanctuary at 1848 West Burnside.

"There is only one sure way of distinguishing a female from a male and that is when the gull lays an egg."

"That is why I laugh at magazine articles by so-called naturalists who write glibly about male gulls and female gulls seen through binoculars."

"I have been trying for years to discover a way of distinguishing male gulls from female gulls before they lay eggs. And I'm still trying!"

Russell Gainer of Newberg, Ore., got a grand slam last year, and he wasn't playing bridge. He was shooting sheep.

Mr. Gainer, who visited the Victoria Rotary Club last week, is one of 62 big game hunters to bag at least one each of the four varieties of mountain sheep found in North America—and become a "grand slammer."

After getting three species, he entered a draw in Nevada for a tag for the Desert Big Horn, the rarest type of mountain sheep.

He was one of five people issued a tag. The sheep he later felled brought him the grand slam.

A mother and daughter living in Escondido, California, would like to correspond with Times readers about a visit to Victoria they are planning this summer.

"We would like to know something about the history of Victoria and about what we should see and do while in your city," writes Mrs. Lee Doner, Route 1, Box 754, Escondido, California.

"Information regarding motels and eating places would be appreciated."

We are used to having Vancouver steal our beauty spots with such heresies as "Come to Vancouver's Beautiful Malahat Drive."

Now the process has been reversed. The Coast Publishing Co. Ltd. of Vancouver has printed a picture postcard entitled:

Rescue Practice Aims at Recruits

Young militiamen turned the Mayfair Mall into an emergency rescue area Saturday with a "disaster" aimed at recruiting more youths.

Aged between 16 and 18, they demonstrated disaster training which equips them to make a hoist-rescue in the event of an earthquake, cliff-fall or any emergency in a war.

The 70 youths, including 30 handmen, were from "B" Troop of the Fifth (B.C.) Ind. Med. Battery, RCA.

The high-school soldiers train Saturday mornings in artillery, driving, radio, first aid and rescue and administration.

They receive free uniforms, regular army pay, sporting facilities and have their own social functions.

"We're recruiting for the band as well," said Capt. R. H. Thompson. "The Saturday morning training doesn't interfere with their school work."

BUILT TRIPOD

The youths constructed a sapling tripod at Mayfair, using knots and lashings, to make a hoist for lifting badly-injured people on a stretcher.

Also on display were two 105-mm saluting guns used for closing of the legislature and for announcing royal births.

Youths can join by calling at Bay Street Armory Saturday mornings.

Que. Unemployment Blamed on Firms' Bias

VANCOUVER (CP)—The vice-president of the 20,000-member United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union of America (UEMWA) said Saturday that almost 40 per cent of the unemployed in Canada are in Quebec province.

Jean Pare blamed the situation partly on discrimination by big business against Quebec French-speaking Canadians.

He told the convention of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) that if the solution is left to politicians, there will be no progress. He called on the Canadian people to act, and dictate a solution.

Mr. Pare, an opponent of separatism, said a suitable celebration for Canada's centennial in 1967 could be a new Canadian constitution to take the place of the BNA Act.

He said that language is not necessarily a problem except perhaps in the field of the federal government. The various government agencies should have people available who can talk with the public in both English and French.

He said a new constitution would bring about equality between Canada's two principal races, and other problems could then be taken care of easily.

thing wrong with economic policies on the national and international level if they permitted the unchecked continuance of the trend toward the growing disparity between rich and poor countries.

Man was close to conquering the blind forces of nature. "How long shall we permit blind economic forces to control human relations on the untenable thesis that the social sciences may not be capable of advancement similar to the progress achieved by the physical sciences?" he asked.

Conference delegates have already agreed to elect as president a representative of the underdeveloped countries, Abdel Monem al Kaysoumi of the United Arab Republic.

The key conference document is a report by Raul Prebisch of Argentina, a UN economist and the conference's secretary-general. His recommendations—regarded as visionary by many in the industrialized nations—include special preference for the manufactured products of the underdeveloped countries; agreements to stabilize commodity prices which account for 80 per cent of the have-not's trade, lowering tariff barriers and a new system of finance under which the rich nations which gain from low raw material prices would pay them extra to finance development.

OUT SOUTH AFRICA?

African delegates may try to oust South Africa from the conference because of its white supremacy policies. The Communists are pressing for the seating of Communist China, East Germany, North Korea and North Viet Nam. These perennials are expected to be settled later this week with the Communist-backed states excluded as usual and South Africa seated after bitter verbal exchanges.

Wheels Clear Bunkhouse Burner

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today that bunkhouses mounted on wheels are not structures within the meaning of the Criminal Code.

The court made the ruling in granting an appeal by Philip Springman of Vancouver against an arson conviction for which he drew a two-year prison term.

Springman was convicted in Regina in April, 1963, of setting fire to the Nipawin Construction Company Limited camp. This camp, owned by Springman, consisted of trucks and other equipment mounted on wheels.

He appealed his arson conviction to the Saskatchewan Appeal Court on grounds that as all of his camp was mounted on wheels it was not a building or structure.

The Appeal Court accepted Springman's argument that his trucks and other power equipment were not buildings or structures. However, it said that two bunkhouses and a combined bunkhouse and office building mounted on wheels were buildings or structures.

The Supreme Court reversed this decision, ruling that the two bunkhouses are not buildings or structures under the criminal code. On this ground the court granted Springman's appeal and quashed the arson conviction.

Cyprus Role Still Vague As Canadian Airlift Ends

Constantine Pledges Aid For Cyprus

ATHENS (CP-AP) — The Greek government declared today that it wants peace in Cyprus and will use its arms there only in the event of an attack. The statement was made in the speech from the throne, read for the first time by 23-year-old King Constantine, who succeeded to the throne on the death of his father, King Paul, March 6.

"The whole nation shares in the trials and struggles of the Greeks in Cyprus," it said. "We give them undivided support."

The statement also held out a hand of friendship to neighboring Turkey and pledged continued Greek adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Both Greece and Turkey are members of NATO but their dispute over Cyprus has threatened the alliance.

Appearing in a field marshal's uniform, the king again swore fidelity to the Greek Orthodox religion, the Greek people and the Greek constitution, completing the formal ceremonies of his succession to the throne.

In keeping with the tradition of constitutional monarchies, the king's speech was prepared by Premier George Papandreu, whose moderate Centre Union Party controls 171 seats in the 300-member house.

Helicopters Snatch 10 From Jungle

LIMA (Reuters) — U.S. helicopters have removed 10 wounded and sick members of a Peruvian survey party besieged by Indians for more than a week from the steaming jungles of eastern Peru, it was learned Sunday.

The helicopters airlifted the 10 survey party members out of the jungle Saturday to the village of Requena, about 50 miles away. A Peruvian fighter plane escort was given the helicopters to ward off any possible new attack by the Indians, who had been harassing the surveyors with rifles and bows and arrows before a Peruvian army column reached the scene last week.

The Indians killed two of the original group of 30 civilians and 10 soldiers.

PLEA TO PAKISTAN

Nehru Seeking End to Rioting

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru has urged Pakistan to join with India in measures to halt Moslem-Hindu rioting which has already resulted in some 200 deaths in India.

Nehru made the proposal in a private letter to Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan Friday, informed sources disclosed today. Nehru was described as greatly concerned that the religious disorders might turn into massacres and provoke new trouble between India and Pakistan.

The 74-year-old Indian leader, still recovering from a mild stroke in January, urged immediate talks between the home ministers of both countries as a first step in a joint effort to prevent further bloodshed.

Ayub Khan has not yet replied to Nehru's overture, the sources said.

Nehru described the rampages of Hindu mobs as a reaction to anti-Hindu rioting in East Pakistan last December and January and the flood of Hindu refugees into India from the predominantly Moslem area, the source said.

HEAVY FLOW

The Indian government says 150,000 refugees from East Pakistan entered India in the first 11 weeks of the year. Some Christians were in the exodus. Although Nehru did not propose a personal meeting with Ayub Khan, he was said to be willing to come eventually to a formal agreement with the Pakistani president on joint efforts to decrease the tension. Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda revealed in Parliament that the number of dead had risen to about 200. He refused to answer questions, explaining that details of the rioting could only incite further violence.

He did say, however, that troops and police fired on mobs on 18 separate occasions, killing four persons and injuring 27. He said the disorders were occurring in a belt along the East Coast railroad on which Hindu refugees from East Pakistan are being moved to resettlement areas.

REMOVE SOME

Nanda also said the government was doing everything possible to protect the Moslems and "a considerable number" of Moslem men, women and children had been removed to "safe areas."

(Reuters news agency quoted an official report received at Bhubaneswar, Orissa, as saying five persons were injured Sunday night when police opened fire on a crowd trying to set fire to a house in the western Orissan industrial town of Rajgangpur.

The bloodiest anti-Moslem rioting in India last week took place in Rourkela, a steel town in Orissa state where more than 1,500 troops are on patrol amid an uneasy calm. At least 53 persons were killed in Rourkela.

Seventy-four Americans were evacuated from Rourkela to Calcutta during the weekend. They are employed in the construction of a new steel mill by West German companies.

Some Americans barricaded themselves in a house when mobs ran wild through the streets, a reporter said.

Run Chicken Through Soup Twice?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen spoke up today for more chicken in chicken soup.

When the housewife serves prepared chicken soup she shouldn't have to "turn to a microscope" to find the chicken in it, the AFL-CIO union told a U.S. agriculture department hearing.

The union protested that some soups sold in dehydrated form contain less than one per cent of poultry meat when they are ready for eating.

Chicken or turkey soup, should contain at least two per cent poultry meat on a ready-to-serve basis or else it should not be labelled as chicken or turkey soup, the union declared.

Mr. Bennett's Choices

THE USUAL QUESTION, ON reviewing the roster of provincial Social Credit backbenchers, is: Where on earth can the premier find cabinet material there? The common question, after an appointment, is: Why on earth did he pick him?

Now Mr. Bennett, with his pockish predilection for surprise and secrecy, has suddenly named three new men to assume portfolios. Looking at them, the public again is asking: Why?

Mr. Campbell, the school teacher from Comox, who will take charge of municipal affairs and administer more than $2 millions of our money in the 1964/65 fiscal year, has made some contribution to the affairs of the Legislature. The same cannot be said of Mr. Loffmark, the UBC professor representing Point Grey, who will spend more than $1 million as minister of industrial development, trade and commerce; or of Mr. Brothers, the Rossland-Trail lawyer who as minister of mines will now be charged with supervising the expenditure of nearly $3 millions of public funds.

It is recognized, of course, that

Mr. Bennett, the undisputed head of the government and maker or breaker of his ministers, exercises a firm control over all departments. But one can sympathize with him in his efforts to surround himself with competent advisers. The electors are inclined to be a little short with straw for his brick-making.

Perhaps of chief interest in the re-shuffling is the emergence of Mr. Kiernan with only the recreation and conservation portfolio to hold his attention. Many will be of the opinion that this is akin to leaving a lion in charge of the raw meat; that it would have been much safer to let Mr. Kiernan retain his mines department and put the parks beyond his administrative reach. However, it may be that with more time to spare for his single office he will be able to achieve a closer rapport with his departmental experts and so gain a better appreciation of the priceless and irreplaceable treasures for which he should be the alert watchdog.

Mr. Bennett may have created more problems than he has solved with his appointments. The public will watch with interest for the emergence of wise, sound, constructive policies from its new servants.

From Two Different Bases

WITH SCORES OF CANADIAN corporations reporting increased profits from their 1963 operations and predictions coming from all sides that the Canadian economy is going to boom this year, it is little wonder that organized labor in many industries has chosen 1964 as the year to make a bid for wage increases.

There is certainly nothing unnatural about workers wishing to share in what, on the surface anyway, seems to be a tremendous rise in Canadian economic well-being. The difficulty for the economists' point of view is that Canadian prosperity is by no means as well-founded as the company reports seem to indicate nor is its permanence assured.

This is nowhere more evident than in the forest industries of this province. Large profits were secured by these industries last year and the workers have served notice that they want a larger share, to the extent of another 40 cents an hour added to the basic wage.

But the difficulty in meeting the demands in this field, as in many other Canadian businesses which have prospered mainly through a build-up of export markets, is that present prosperity is largely the result of a windfall—devaluation of the Canadian dollar—by which exports were enhanced in value with no increment of labor or capital. There is considerable doubt, moreover, that this windfall will prove to be of as great a value to Canada in future years as it was in 1963. The added costs of imports, the American tax cuts which make industries in that country more competitive, increased productivity of other competitive trading nations; these are all factors which may bring a gradual slowing down of Canadian prosperity.

In addition to these factors, of course, there is the big item of costs of production in Canadian industry. If these costs rise by too great a degree the process of attrition in Canadian export markets, which is likely to occur in any event, will be speeded up considerably.

It is understandable, in these circumstances, why industry is reluctant to write dramatic wage increases permanently into its cost structure. Just as understandable is the workers' desire to be paid more because industry made more last year. The workers are looking back to past profits; the industry is looking ahead to future costs; in essence the two parties are arguing from bases which have little in common.

In the negotiations which have opened between the representatives of the forest industries and the workers' union, most of the people of the province play the role of innocent bystander even though the outcome is of the greatest importance to them due to the industries' pre-eminent place in the economic life of British Columbia. They can only hope that both sides display restraint and commonsense in their negotiations and that they keep firmly in mind that their failure to reach a reasonable agreement can blight the economic life of this province not only for this year but for years to come.

Phonies Beware

POSSIBLY BECAUSE THE plight of the blind excites a large measure of public sympathy, solicitation of money to aid the blind has been a fertile field for spurious schemes and phony collectors. It is a sad commentary on human nature that anyone would stoop so low but it is suspected on the basis of frequent cases that thousands of dollars are collected in British Columbia each year, ostensibly for the blind but never actually benefitting them.

It is therefore to the credit of the provincial government that it has, after long urging by responsible officials concerned with the welfare of the blind, passed legislation regulating public solicitation for blind persons.

Under Bill 22, it will be necessary for all persons soliciting, selling goods, promoting programs of sport or entertainment, or otherwise collecting money for use of the blind, to obtain a permit from a Contributions to the Blind Board. The Board is empowered to recommend regulations governing all such soliciting, to require books to be audited and in general to control such appeals to the public.

This is an excellent and much-needed measure. It will ensure that all bona fide appeals—such as that for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind carried on here by the Community Chest—will be given full opportunity, but that collections or sales which benefit nobody but unscrupulous promoters will get short shrift. The public and the blind will be well served by this legislation.

Sell Surplus, Face Shortage

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA legislature has been told by Resources Minister Ray Williston that on the basis of current load growth the province will be "completely out" of power by 1973.

This is very interesting news. Mr. Williston announces it to explain the urgency for speed on the Peace River project, which is expected to produce its first power in 1968.

If we are going to be in short supply only five years later, what was the advantage in arranging to sell all our downstream benefit power from the Columbia to the United States?

A number of unusual statements have been made by the present administration to justify, first, Premier Bennett's two-river policy and later to support the argument that Peace power is going to be as cheap as Columbia River power would have been. But the 1973 shortage forecast produces its own astonishment.

Is the minister telling the public to forget his government's position on alleged "surplus" power that should only be sold to the Americans, and to concentrate on the Peace? Or is this a wind-blown straw floating on the bosom of the Fraser?

What's going on?

FROM WASHINGTON

Russia Has Had Enough of 'Patience'

IN Peking not long ago Mao Tse-tung gently informed a visiting French parliamentary delegation that the chairman of the great fraternal Soviet Communist party, Nikita S. Khrushchev, was "another Adolf Hitler" and would meet with the same fate in the end.

In Delhi at about the same time the Indian Communist leader, S. A. Yange, whined to an English visitor that it was no longer possible for him to discuss the differences between the Chinese and the Russians, because Khrushchev had already sent an "ultimatum" to party leaders around the world, commanding their presence at a meeting for the obvious purpose of anathematizing the Chinese.

In Peking, once again, the Chinese Communist theoretical paper, "Red Flag," has just published with special prominence a long, angry speech by the pro-Chinese leader of the New Zealand Communist party, V. G. Wilcox. In this speech Mikhail Suslov was newly singled out as a target for vilification on a par with Khrushchev himself.

Critic of Heresy

Suslov was the Politburo member, of course, who delivered an interminable, reportedly most inflammatory speech about the Chinese Communist heresy at the last Soviet-Central Committee meeting. Thus far, the text has not been published. The Peking publication of the Wilcox diatribe, specially aimed at Suslov, clearly means that the Chinese expect the Suslov diatribe to see the light of common day before very long.

Such are a few of the signs that another agreeably lurid climax is due pretty soon in the long struggle between Khrushchev and Mao. The experts are at last somewhat breathlessly forecasting a truly decisive climax—either a break in party relations between the Soviets and Chinese or the expulsion of the Chinese from the Communist party by a world conference, or both in succession.

When and if they press forward to the final break with Mao and Co., Khrushchev and the Soviet Communists will have few, if any, really enthusiastic allies. As was almost openly indicated by the recent Polish party program, even the Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe greatly enjoy the present state of affairs.

Freedom for Satellites

A simmering row between the two big brothers gives the satellites far more freedom of action, whereas a final and decisive break will leave the Eastern Europeans alone with the Soviets once more. The Rumanians, the greatest exploiters of this freedom of action, have just been to Peking to try to lower the temperature. But they got nowhere.

A mission from the Japanese Communist party, which is pro-Chinese, also went to Moscow recently on the same errand that took the Rumanians to Peking. They, too, got nowhere. They were even quite rudely treated, for Khrushchev did not deign to say two words to any of the Japanese comrades.

Mediation having failed dismally both in Peking and Moscow, the new climax in the struggle will almost certainly begin when Khrushchev and the other Eastern European Communist leaders gather in Budapest on March 30.

Khrushchev can then be expected to try to drag on the satellite bosses into a joint condemnation of the Chinese as shocking heretics. This will perhaps be coupled with a joint call for a world party meeting of the sort the poor trembling Indian party boss, Dange, so obviously feared.

Reluctant Supporters

Whether Khrushchev will even succeed in getting his joint condemnation is somewhat questionable. The Pole, Wladyslaw Gomulka, will hardly sign with pleasure; and the Rumanian, Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, may well declare his independence on the matter, as he has already done on other matters. For much the same reasons, the world meeting to consign the Chinese to darkness and damnation cannot be forecast with certainty.

But two things are just about certain, despite the tepidity of other Communists' support for the Soviet party. The Soviets have had enough of pretending to be patient with the Chinese, as will be proven when the Suslov diatribe is publicly released. And this loss of patience can hardly fail to lead to a break in Sino-Soviet party relations, and maybe in state relations as well.

In itself, this will be a new development of true world meaning, comparable indeed to the split between the Eastern and Western churches—that divided Rome and Constantinople. Its more far-reaching implications, however, are less clear. Important Soviet troop movements toward the Chinese frontier are now confirmed as having occurred before the new year.

Absolute confirmation is lacking, but this Soviet troop movement has reportedly continued through the winter. Maybe this has something to do with Mao's astonishing comparison of Khrushchev with Hitler.

Bon Fireworks

I consider Mrs. Lois Hagen was right when she asked that fireworks should be abolished and her fellow members should have supported her in this move. I was surprised at Mr. Stupich, MLA, when he did not support her in that.

Guy Fawkes Day is not kept in the same sensible way it was kept years ago. In fact very few things are these days. I support Mrs. Lois Hagen, our only B.C. woman member, and I think other women should come out and do the same.

It is an absolutely dangerous procedure and should be stopped and be deemed illegal and subject to fines.

Lynx Explosion

In view of the recent story in the Times regarding the habits of the lynx, I enclose excerpts from the March, 1964, number of The Blue Jay, the official publication of the Saskatchewan Natural History Society.

"Dennis" (11) and Laurie (10) sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pennes were playing in the farmyard of their home seven miles from Beechy, when a huge cat fairly flew out of a tree, pounced on a chicken and carried it away from almost under their feet. They ran and told their father, who found no traces of the animal, but said it must have been a lynx. The boys made snares of bailing twine, put them up in and around the tree and forgot about them till a couple of weeks later, when they found a lynx suspended from a branch, head downward and held by the two hind legs in one of their makeshift snares. (The magazine shows a photo of the boys and the cat.)

Biologists and naturalists are generally aware that a major invasion of the lynx (Lynx canadensis) has occurred in the Prairie provinces and the adjacent States in the last two years. Low population of the Snowshoe rabbit, the major prey of the lynx, may explain the presence of the lynx several hundreds of miles from its usual northern home.

We have heard that a large number have been captured alive in the city of Calgary. The November, 1963, issue of North Dakota Outdoors, official publication of the State Game and Fish Department of that state gives a report of the situation in that area in an article entitled "The Lynx Explosion."

Train for Automation

The people of Greater Victoria have been offered a tremendous opportunity to face the challenge of automation in our time.

When one considers that 50 per cent of the children now in Grade 1 will graduate into jobs of a type which do not now exist, it is easy to see the challenge to our approach to an adequate training program.

I have reference to the offering for sale by the University of Victoria of the Young Building. This should be purchased and placed under the direction of the Greater Victoria School Board, in order that an adequate program of training in the area generally referred to as adult shall be made available.

Trade unions, business people and governments have been concerned with the unemployed who generally may be classified as willing workers but incorrectly trained.

Let us unite to assist the Greater Victoria School Board acquire the Young Building so that automation and changing times will cease to be a threat, but will become a challenge and we will then be able to train men to do those things which machines can never do, so that we will all share more and better things that our economy can produce.

The Poor Want In

By RICHARD PURSER

EARLY in May the widely heralded Kennedy Round conference opens in Geneva. There the 61 members and 13 associates of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will try to reduce industrial tariffs across the board, reduce other barriers to trade, and expand agricultural markets. Extensive publicity since President Kennedy first proposed his Trade Expansion Act has caused the May conference to overshadow another conference which opened today in Geneva. Yet the latter may prove to have the farthest-reaching consequences.

It is the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, which will be attended by ministers and officials of 122 countries. Its importance arises from developments at last May's preparatory meeting for the Kennedy Round. That conference was dominated by a dramatic battle between the United States and the European Economic Community over the ground rules for approaching this year's negotiations.

Bubbling Revolt

But bubbling up to the surface last May was something else: a revolt by the poorer nations of the world who were increasingly coming to feel that their needs were being passed by. The rich were getting richer while the poor were getting poorer. "GATT" appeared dominated by the concerns of advanced countries (who made up most of the 20 original signatories still adhering to the agreement). It was seen by poorer countries as a tool used by rich countries to increase their trade with each other.

Twenty-one GATT countries, all but three of them poor and none of them major industrial nations, proposed an "action program" which the conference as a whole agreed to try to implement. The program called for wholesale elimination of barriers by rich countries to imports from poor countries, with special reference to a 50 per cent cut within three years in duties against processed products—the products most likely to compete directly with the domestic output of rich countries.

All the GATT conference really did was set up a committee. The "action program" has meaning only equal to the effort put into it. It was essentially a declaration of intent by the world's poor. It served notice on the rich that something must be done "which would facilitate the efforts of less-developed countries to diversify their economies, strengthen their export capacity, and increase their earnings from overseas sales."

Now, at the UN-trade conference which was already set before last May, the poor nations will come into their own. They will dominate completely. It will be their ideal forum. And among their uncomfortable listeners will be the Communist nations, who except for Czechoslovakia are absent from GATT.

Talkiest

The two-and-a-half-month-long conference will be unwieldy in the extreme. With delegations averaging about 12 men each, there will be much repetitive talk. Opening speeches alone will take a month of morning sessions. In a talk-fest like this—delegates will have 6,000 pages of UN reports available from which to draw their facts—it will be difficult to reach firm conclusions. The object is to convince the rich of the rest of the world's desperate need to break out of its vicious circle of falling export earnings and rising import expenditures.

As Dr. Raul Prebisch, secretary-general of the conference, said in a pre-conference report, GATT has done well for the industrial countries but "it has not proved equally effective in coping with trade between the developing countries and the industrial countries, nor has it promoted trade relations among the developing countries themselves."

UN organizers hope the conference will set up "machinery," presumably a committee, leading to a new world trade policy and possibly a new organization with development of the poorer countries as its chief goal. World trade would be tackled on all fronts and not "in a fragmentary fashion" as Dr. Prebisch says is the case at present. GATT would have a lesser role: it "could give very valuable help particularly with respect to all matters concerning tariff policy and the application of the preferential system."

The conference will form five committees to examine chief items on the agenda:

(1) Prices and marketing of primary commodities; (2) exports of manufactured products by poorer countries (3), financing international trade; (4) institutions governing world trade; (5) general problems of economic development and its relation to trade expansion.

The poor countries want fair and stable prices and assured markets for their primary products; they need purchasing power for equipment imports necessary to establish diversified home economies; and when they diversify they also have to sell.

The West will be on the defensive at this conference. If the rich nations cannot prove that the ideals of the Kennedy Round are meaningful to the poor, there will be more and more pressure towards creation of a monolithic world trading bureaucracy.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

THE '64 budget needed vivid content and vigorous presentation to avoid being anticlimactic after last year's. It got neither.

There's still more to quarrel and argue over from the '63 budget and its consequences than in this placebo.

Mr. Gordon was Caspar Milquetoast throughout, not the clawing tiger of '63. His unimpassioned performance reflects a government in the doldrums without any wind of leadership and content with the breeze from its own bellows, constructed of the Liberal plastic called administrative competence. This government is already overmature, without zeal or imagination, its 'esprit' wilted.

I think this flaccid state explains the concern and knowledgeable preoccupation of so many MPs with the errors or subtleties in procedure on Friday, March 13, when the House approved dispatch of troops to Cyprus.

Belatedly and awkwardly, the Creditists objected and later forced a debate which carried over into a second day.

Pension Tension Gone

The debate was rather good in quality, certainly a shade above the budget debate and the Canada pension debate. MPs had something definite to go on, there was soul-searching and conscience-flogging, and a jolly old gathering of righteousness behind the Speaker and Deputy Speaker.

Much of the tension went out of the pension debate when it became clear that the bill would not be processed very far before Messrs. Roberts, Lesage, et al. confronted the PM and crew at the next federal-provincial conference.

Again, it is very apparent that the government is not behind the pension bill with a coherent enthusiasm. Some cabinet ministers would drop it; others think it has been emasculated; a few want a stronger line taken with Lesage and Roberts. A lot of the Liberal backbenchers split along the same lines.

It is easy to perceive this lack of enthusiasm, even easier to find the cause. It is the prime minister and his lack of leadership.

His more able cabinet colleagues now know what the trouble is but they are ruled by the tremendous personal loyalty and attraction embodied in the old line: "Mike's such a good guy." He is.

There's a book out this week about him by John Beal, Time's bureau chief in Ottawa. It is a limp, brief ramble over the Pearson career. Some idea of its surface nature is the fact that three gentlemen who figured so largely in the Pearson career—Duncan MacTavish, Herbert Norman and Arnold Heeney—do not enter into it.

After the race and color and stuff of Ottawa given readers by Peter Newman in his book on the Diefenbaker Years, the Beal book is like moving from Dogpatch and Lal Abner to the Adventures of Mrs. Mary Worth. Genteel, worth while, etc., etc., etc.

In a negative way, the Newman book is in the news again. It did not win the Governor-General's Award for the best non-fiction book published in Canada.

The honors went to Maurice Careless, a history professor at U of T, for his two-volume work called Brown of The Globe. At least a story about a dead politician won the honors.

The Newman book was on the short list considered at the end by the awards committee. At first I was suspicious because it would not receive serious consideration because it was (1) controversial; (2) about a living politician who still has power of a kind; and (3) a best-seller, in fact, the phenomenal best-seller of Canadian publishing history.

This past year was a vintage one in books, as well as in budgets. There were two good ones on Duplessis and his regime, an excellent second volume to close out the Graham biography of Arthur Meighen, a sober, solid contribution by Blair Neatby on the King career through the 1920s, and a wonderful introduction to most of the Canadian political themes in a history by Gerald Craig.

The Newman book is a mark in our political journalism that one hopes the Beal book on Pearson is not going to begin-erasing. Surely, in treating living politicians we do not have hagiographies or sketches.

Mr. Newman has begun work on his next book. It is to be a study of the power structure in Canada, inspired by the British writer Anthony Sampson and his Anatomy of Britain, and tracing the sources, institutions and personalities who exercise power and run Canada.

The task is more formidable than in England because the political power centres here are many and diffuse. Sampson could research and write most of his books without leaving London. Newman won't be able to do it so neatly.

'Nice Guy in Power'

Now that Renegade in Power has sold more than 25,000 copies at $7.50 a copy, Mr. Newman has set a monetary objective for authors and publishers that only a textbook author in old Quebec could hope to pass.

Recently he received proposals from an international publisher to consider doing a book in a series which has such noted authors as Evelyn Waugh, Sir Harold Nicholson and William L. Shirer. I hope this may be some consolation as Mr. Newman sees the Governor-General's Award go to Professor Careless.

At the same time, I warn him that neither this possibility nor his "Anatomy" book may be his fate or duty. I think he should consider a Part II for his opener, entitled "Nice Guy in Power."

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Giving Them the Raspberries

Raspberries make a very good fresh-fruit crop for the home garden.

As purchased, a bundle contains 10 canes, each with its root. These need to be spaced three feet apart. That means about 27 feet of row.

While raspberries will produce some kind of a crop in a wide range of soils, it is wise to prepare the row with plenty of humus since the plants will be expected to remain there a long time.

Compost or well-rotted manure will supply the humus. Two-year-old manure which is crumbly will do a good job since it is the mechanical texture of the soil that is more important than plant foods at this stage.

Raspberries are shallow rooting, therefore do not plant them deeply—just low enough to hold them firm.

The canes are about 24 to 30 inches long when purchased. After planting cut the canes at about 12 inches above soil level immediately above a growth bud or a new growth if leaves have started.

The aim for this year is to build up a root system and obtain about four robust canes to carry fruit next year. No fruit should be allowed to form on the cane that was planted as this would jeopardize next year's crop.

Should more than four shoots start from the base this year, it is wise to cut off all except the four strongest. If only one or two canes develop, so much the better. In succeeding years six canes can be allowed to a root.

Bonemeal can be freely incorporated when the row is prepared, but other fertilizers are not recommended. It is best to see what growth develops before giving the plants a push.

Three-foot spacing permits some measure of digging to be done between the plants in future years. Neither digging nor cultivating should be carried out near the crowns because of damaging the surface roots on which the plants depend.

Willamette and Sumner are my favorite red varieties for this district, and Golden Queen is a delicious yellow berry. Ever-bearing varieties have smaller berries and carry their crop in the fall, sometimes too late for sun ripening, but they extend the season of picking in warm, sheltered gardens.

Fish Union Seeks Change On Columbia

VANCOUVER (CP).—Delegates to the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union convention Saturday called on the federal government to seek changes in the Columbia River draft treaty with the United States.

Delegates to the meeting passed a resolution opposing ratification of the treaty in its present form and seeking provisions along the lines of those recommended by Canadian negotiator General A. G. L. MacNaughton.

The convention also passed a resolution asking the federal government for establishment of a 12-mile fishing limit off Canada's coastline and opposed recommendations of the Gill Commission which would institute widespread changes in the unemployment insurance,

SIGNS OF UNITY DISTURBING

Arab 'Lovefest' Paying Dividends?

By GEORGE McARTHUR
CAIRO (AP).—Is the Arab world patching up its vendettas? Will it make good its long-standing threats against Israel if it does?

Diplomatic experts who watch this corner of the world are not willing to give last January's Arab summit lovefest that much credit. But most agree that the unified Arab conduct since that time has been impressive and diplomatically speaking, unsettling.

At the summit 13 Arab states pledged an estimated $30,000,000 as "a war chest" for various purposes. All have met initial payments, so far as is known. A joint military headquarters being set up under Egyptian Gen. Aly Amer is growing slowly.

Cairo has been the scene of a series of top-level Arab meetings—personal delegates of the summit leaders, foreign ministers, information ministers, education ministers.

For most such gatherings came statements praising unity and damning Israel and imperialism. There were conspiratorial references, secret resolutions and emotional hints of bold deeds to be undertaken against states supporting Israel.

"I am beginning to be afraid they are taking themselves seriously," remarked one seasoned diplomat, only half in jest.

ASTUTE MOVE BY NASSER

His remark was based on a general Western diplomatic analysis that the summit conference—far from being a council of war—was an astute move by Egypt's President Nasser to keep such hotheads as Syria's shaky strongman Amin Al Hafez from embroiling the Arab world in a war for which it was not prepared.

Host Nasser, of course, had other objectives such as regaining undisputed leadership of the Arab world and furthering the chances for an advantageous peace in Yemen. But his chief concern was to make some kind of believable response to Israel's plan to begin tapping the River Jordan to irrigate the Negev Desert.

Such a response was necessary because for years Nasser and others had been saying such action by Israel would mean war. But in terms of military hardware and international strength, responsible Arab leaders knew a successful war was out of the question.

As the summit turned out, the Arabs pledged to implement their own Jordan waters irrigation plans, set up a joint military command and set their own house in order to meet "Israel's aggressive schemes." Nasser later said that while war with Israel was inevitable, it would only come because the Israelis would start it, a view which seemingly rules out an Arab attack.

YEMENI A PROBLEM

Nasser's strength as spokesman of the new Arab unity is somewhat illusory so long as one vital problem remains unsettled—the Yemeni civil war.

It is pinning down at least 30,000 Egyptian troops supporting the Yemeni republican regime which seems ineffectual.

Though Saudi Arabia agreed to restore diplomatic relations with Nasser, it has shown no willingness thus far to withdraw its backing for monarchist forces in Yemen who still hold about one-third of the Red Sea country.

The stalemate in Yemen costs ill-rich Saudi Arabia relatively little. It costs Nasser a great deal.

Late in April Saudi Arabia's tough-minded premier, Crown Prince Faisal, plans a negotiating mission to Cairo—a relatively distant date perhaps intended to emphasize that Faisal feels little need for haste.

Experts say he is still determined to refuse any settlement which would confirm a Nasser victory in Yemen. However, he is under pressure at home to come to terms with "Nasserism" and other Arab states are also applying diplomatic muscles.

He's Heading Into Eye Of the Storm

(Times reporter Peter London, in a six-part series, takes a look at British Columbia's sustained yield forestry policy; how it has worked since it began 17 years ago, and what future prospects appear to be.)

By PETE LOUDON
(Part Five)

Man on a tightrope in the timber battle now shaping in northern B.C. is Ray Willison, minister of lands, forests and water resources.

He is the referee, judge and jury in the hearing of applications for timber and pulp cutting rights being sought by five giant industries over an area constituting one quarter of the province.

Hearings are set for April and May.

He will rule on applications by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company, Bulkley Valley Pulp and Timber Ltd., Celgar Ltd., Alexandria Forest Products and Northwood Mills Ltd.

Personally, he believes there is timber for all applicants. But apparently the applicants themselves have doubts.

Overlaps

MB&PR's tree farm application overlaps a pulp harvesting area sought by the Bulkley company. The Bulkley company's application overlaps a TFL sought by Alexandria.

And there is another area of overlap involving Bulkley and a pulp harvesting area sought by MB&PR.

At the same time, the MB&PR-requested pulp harvesting area covers a series of sustained yield units where the independents have been supplying pulp to Celgar Ltd. and like it that way. So does Celgar.

And also in the MB&PR proposed TFL, there are a number of independents who have been reaping the timber on a basis of temporary tenures for 10 years, selling where they please.

Most applicants won't give an inch. In three cases the principals have said that unless they get what they have asked, they cannot proceed with plans for multi-million dollar pulp mills.

Towns Stirred

The situation is stirring all levels of the towns of Prince Rupert, Terrace, Kitimat, Smithers, Hazelton, Telkwa, Houston and Burns Lake.

New pulp mills, with an attendant boost to the regional economy, are slated for Prince Rupert, Kitimat, Houston, the Rocky Mountain Trench area and Prince George.

In Rupert there are fears that if MB&PR gets its pulp harvesting rights, Celgar's Columbia Cellulose mill expansion at Rupert is threatened.

In Terrace, local sawmill operators fear the proposed Kitimat sawmill-pulpmill complex of MB&PR will end up drawing logs they previously cut and sold to Celgar, or traded for sawlogs.

Equal Basis

They want to see all the pulp mills able to buy on an equal basis in the PHA—which, because of competition, might afford them better prices.

The community is split. Many in Terrace would like to see Kitimat, long plagued by one-industry layoffs, enjoy pulp mill benefits. The people of the two communities are closely linked.

At Hazelton, sawmillers are the backbone of the community. They also want all pulp mills to have equal footing. Smithers wants MB&PR to keep clear of the Bulkley project.

Groups such as the women's institute, the senior citizens association and of course the Smithers Chamber of Commerce are getting into the act.

They say that no one has ever bought their pulpwood before and the Bulkley mill will be only 45 miles distant. They see new jobs, homes and prosperity in the Bulkley bid. They say Bulkley can't proceed without the Ootsa Lake area where MB & PR's tree farm application overlaps the Bulkley claim.

They say MB & PR, with its vast coastal timber rights, is getting too greedy. It's a case, they say, of the coast trying to downgrade the interior again—and tempers are high. Houston, Telkwa and Burns Lake feel the same way.

The MLAs for the three ridings involved all lean toward the small independents who people their areas and do all the voting. This is okay for Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca) where the issue is clear cut—if Bulkley wins out the communities prosper.

Tough One

But in Skeena riding where Social Creditor Dudley Little is MLA, things are more complicated.

Mr. Little sides with the Terrace-Hazelton-Smithers sawmillers and loggers although he firmly believes there is enough timber for all applicants and he would love to see the Kitimat mill built by MB & PR.

He has had the courage to stand up for the independents. But if it came to a showdown and MB & PR's application is disallowed because of their opposition, the job-hungry people of Kitimat may never forgive him.

In the Rupert area, Celgar Ltd. may decide that to protect its interests it should apply for the same pulp harvesting licence sought by MB & PR. Celgar's Columbia Cellulose holds the first TFL ever issued and has done much to build both Rupert and Terrace. Could the minister with fairness, give the disputed pulp harvesting area to the interloper—from the south?

80% American

On the other hand, though it doesn't seem to matter much to the people in the north, Celgar's subsidiary is 80 per cent American owned (according to local legend). Could the minister protect Celgar at the expense of the pioneer B.C. company of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company?

And in the dispute between MB & PR and the Bulkley company, can the minister favor the giant MB & PR application over that of the enterprising sawmillers who have banded together to seek a pulp harvesting licence?

If they can prove they have money and the markets and the know-how, their successful application would prove to critics of the sustained yield system that a small man or group of small men can still grow big in B.C. forests.

This division of the spoils is one of the thornier problems thrown at the government as a result of its sustained yield program. There are several others.

1,000 AT RALLY

Jeremiah Envies Klan

ATLANTA (AP)—The leader of the United Klans of America denounced the pending U.S. civil rights bill, Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. Police Chief Herbert Jenkins and Attorney General Robert Kennedy Sunday at a Ku Klux Klan rally.

A crowd estimated at 1,000 persons attended the rally in a park near the municipal auditorium. Included were about 200 robed Klansmen and the Atlanta branch leader of the Black Muslim movement, Jeremiah X.

Most white persons attended but Jeremiah X was among several Negroes present.

White persons in the crowd threatened the Negroes and one incident was reported. A white youth who accompanied two Negroes was struck in the back by a robed Klansman.

GIVES ORDER

When a crowd gathered around the Negroes, Calvin Craig, Georgia grand dragon of the Klan, told white persons to move back.

"Leave those Negroes alone," he said. "Let them come in peace and hear what we have to say . . . If it burns their ears, let it."

"I have more respect for Jeremiah than I do for the mayor of Atlanta. I'd rather have the two Negroes than two scoundrels from the mayor's office."

Jeremiah X told reporters he did not approve of the Klan but that the rally getting white persons together might be a good thing.

"I wish we could be as successful with our efforts to get black people together," he said.

Reds Threaten UN Break-Up

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union stressed Saturday it would never help pay for the UN Congo and Middle East forces and hinted that any challenge to its General Assembly vote on that account might break up the United Nations.

A government statement issued by the Soviet delegation added that if any effort was made to withdraw its vote, "we may be obliged to reconsider our attitude toward United Nations activities."

LEGITIMATE

The International Court of Justice has ruled against the Soviet Union, saying these are legitimate expenses which must be borne by all members.

The Soviet statement said any "groundless charges" provoked by Moscow's position would be regarded as "an unfriendly act towards the U.S.S.R."

The government said it would like to make "absolutely clear" it would regard any actions to take away the Soviet vote "as the actions of those who do not care for the United Nations and who do not take into account the prospect of its breakup as the result of such actions."

NO-VOTE RULE

The Soviet Union is one of 18 countries that stand to lose their votes in the 112-nation assembly next fall if a controversial financial provision of the charter is applied. This provision, Article 19, says any UN member two years behind in its dues "shall have no vote" unless the assembly finds its non-payment stems from conditions beyond its control.

Diplomatic sources said the United States and Britain sought to head off a showdown over this article in a private talk with the Soviet delegation March 6.

COMPROMISE PLAN
They said the two proposed that the Soviet Union pay part of its Congo and Middle East assessments and accept a compromise giving the Security Council more power as against the General Assembly to start new peace-keeping operations, and creating a 15-nation assembly committee with big-power participation to arrange the financing.

The informants said the Soviet delegation had not yet had Moscow's reply to this proposal. But the statement seemed to herald a rejection.

NEGROES STAGE SIT-IN AT REALTOR'S

SEATTLE (AP) — A sit-in at a Seattle real estate office was staged Sunday by members of the Seattle branch of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The group claims real estate salesmen avoided showing new houses for sale to Negro customers, although white customers were shown several houses in the same price range.

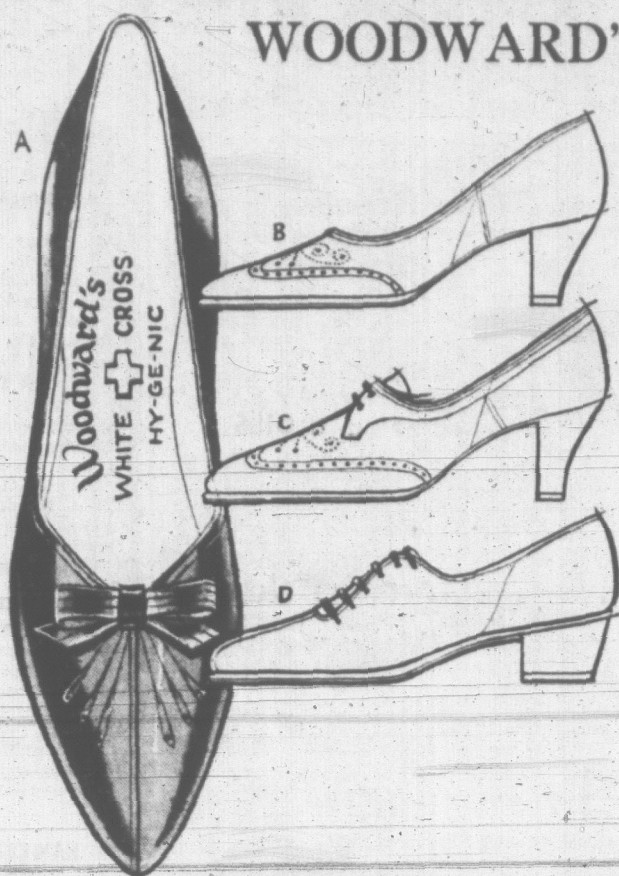

Seattle CORE chairman Tim Martin said the handling of Negro customers in this manner was typical of the way many white realtors react when Negroes seek their services.

20 of 21 Cubans Die in Open Boat

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Twenty of 21 Cubans who fled the island several days ago died of starvation and exposure, a Wisconsin visitor reported Sunday.

Ed. T. Arpin said the story, owner of the Tortuga Club, came from the constable at Boddenton, on Grand Cayman Island, who is also coroner and justice of the peace.

The constable, Arpin said, reported the 22-foot boat carried 21 men and women on the trip and only one man survived. The man's wife was among those who died, he said. Arpin said he and his wife, who vacationed on Grand Cay-man Island, were en route to the airport Saturday morning when they came upon an automobile wreck and the constable was at the scene.

The constable knew the owner of the Tortuga Club, who was driving the Arpins to the airport to catch a plane for Miami, and told about the Cuban boat.

He reported the boat washed

Belli Still Practices Despite Quitting Bar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lawyer Melvin Belli's resignation from the American Bar Association does not mean he can no longer practise law, he said Sunday.

Belli said in a telephone call to The Associated Press that his next case will be representing Judge William Driscoll in a defamation suit against the Toledo Blade.

The dapper silver-haired lawyer, dismissed last week from the Jack Ruby case, announced his resignation from the association Friday.

Belli's resignation "will have no effect" on the ABA's investigation of his professional conduct, an ABA spokesman said Saturday.

Belli defended Ruby in the Dallas trial in which Ruby was found guilty and sentenced to death in the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Belli's resignation announcement Friday was the occasion also of a personal attack by Belli on ABA president Walter Craig. Craig had criticized Belli's courtroom conduct earlier in a speech here.

Jailed for Shooting

CRANBROOK (CP)—Kenneth Harold Command will spend three years and six months in jail after conviction on a reduced charge of manslaughter in the death of his wife. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice Angelo Branea Friday after the assize court jury took less than two hours to return its verdict.

Command, 51, had been charged with capital murder after his wife died Oct. 17 of rifle wounds.

8 VIOLENT DEATHS IN B.C.

Weekend Fires Take Four Lives

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fires claimed the lives of four of the eight persons who died accidental deaths in British Columbia during the weekend. A plane crash, two traffic accidents and a tractor killed the others.

Allan Douglas Remple, 1 1/2, and his 2 1/2-year-old brother, Frederick Thomas, died when fire of unknown origin ripped through their parents' house trailer Sunday on the outskirts of Lytton, at the head of the Fraser Canyon.

Jean McIntyre, 16-year-old friend who was minding the children, was taken to hospital where she was treated for severe facial and arm burns. Another Remple child, 3 1/2-year-old Barbara, was also sleeping in the trailer but was rescued by Miss McIntyre who said she did not have time to go back inside to rescue the two boys.

Mrs. Remple was taken to hospital suffering shock. The father, employed at a construction camp near McBride in east-central B.C., was being flown to Lytton.

Two unidentified men perished in the other fire, a blaze early Sunday aboard the salvage tug The Little S, moored near the mouth of the Fraser River. Skipper Clarence Grant, who escaped by swimming to a nearby rock jetty, said he was taking the two men to a job and knew them only by their first names.

The bodies of the two were found in the burned-out cabin of the tug after the blaze of unknown origin was extinguished.

The campaign is the largest ever undertaken for a new university in Canada.

New University Plans Campaign For $18 Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—A public campaign was announced Friday to seek $18,000,000 for the new Simon Fraser University.

Matching grants from the provincial government would bring the total collected over the next five years to $36,000,000. Campaign chairman Cyrus H. McLean and Allan McGavin said they hope to sew up the drive in just one year, which would beat the deadline for the opening of the new institution in suburban Burnaby.

The largest known extinct insect was the melanara of the Upper Carboniferous period which had a wing span of two feet, six inches.

MORE FREEDOM FOR COLLECTIVES

'Hands off Farms' Soviet Bureaucrats Warned

MOSCOW (AP).—Collective and state farms were given a large measure of independence today in a party and government decree that threatens punishment for bureaucrats who interfere on the farms.

The action, striking a blow at too much central planning, had been foreshadowed by Premier Khrushchev at an agricultural meeting in the Kremlin Feb. 23.

Khrushchev declared that central planning had worked nonsense on the farms, citing the instance of farmers being pressured into planting corn in areas where the crop could not possibly thrive.

Under the decree, state and collective farms will be told how much must be produced for the government. "But the question of how much and what crops to cultivate, what number of cattle to keep, how to utilize the soil rationally—this is the business of the collective farmers and workers of state farms," said Tass, the official news agency.

Such local matters always have been determined largely by central planning bodies. Tass said the old centralized system stifled initiative of farmers, but it warned that farmers who abuse the new independence will be strictly punished.

Tass also disclosed that planners who interfere will be punished too. The nature of the punishment was not spelled out. The decree is the aftermath of a disastrous year on the farms. Bad weather and bad planning have forced the Kremlin to buy millions of tons of wheat in the West.

Alcoholism is Their Common Foe

By MARGE GILROY

Every Thursday night a group of 12 to 15 women meet in a Victoria clubroom to chat over a cup of coffee and discuss one common problem—an alcoholic.

Who they are doesn't matter—not even to them. They know one another only by Mabel, Mary, June or Joan.

Whether they are rich or poor, young or old is of no importance.

What matters is that each of them needs help.

A husband, friend or relative is an alcoholic. Life at home has become unbearable—tensions have mounted to the breaking point and loneliness has led to depression.

The alcoholic is sick with drinking. The wife or relative is sick with thinking.

"Frantic" is the way one woman described her thinking before she became a member of Al-Anon.

These women meet, not to learn how to stop the alcoholic drinking but, to learn how to live with themselves and the alcoholic if he should or should not continue to drink.

As one member said at the roundtable discussion, "Life was miserable when my husband was drinking and it was just as miserable when he stopped."

"I'd forgotten how to live a happy life. I didn't know what to do about it. It required a change of attitude and that takes time and patience."

Another said, "I was lonely,

I stayed away from friends as I tried to hide my husband's drinking."

"Coming here helped me to treat him like a human being—I know I never did before. It helped the kids, too. They stay home now and aren't scared anymore."

Often the crisis does not arise until the alcoholic has stopped drinking.

One wife said, "When my husband stopped drinking he became so sensitive I couldn't say or do anything right and I kept looking at him making this great effort to improve himself and there I was, still sitting back in the mire."

It is not the usual club where half the members sit on the executive. There is no executive yet it functions in an organized fashion. There is no self-pity and no gossip.

A member may bring a problem to the club and others may help to find a solution, but there are no ready-made answers.

One woman who was frightened to stand up for what she thought was right for fear it might start husband drinking again, was told:

"You must realize his sobriety is not in your hands. He may use you for an excuse for drinking but that is not the reason. When you think you are right stand by what you believe."

No one attempted to analyze what is right or wrong.

Decisions are left up to the individual.

Contact with Al-anon can be made through PO Box 363.

MAY KEEP CANCER AWAY

Pills to Save Smokers?

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP)—A leading cancer researcher said Sunday that new animal experiments suggest the possibility of developing pills to help protect cigarette smokers from the "indisputable" hazard of lung and other cancers.

Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago noted

Historical Society Meets on Thursday

Victoria Branch, B.C. Historical Association will meet Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Douglas Building Cafeteria.

this in addressing the annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

He reported that any one of about 60 "aromatic hydrocarbon" drugs, if administered to rats, provide protection in 60 per cent of cases against a cigarette chemical which otherwise invariably produces breast cancer in female rats. He indicated that if this is true of lung cancer,

In fact, he said, the protective drugs are readily available, and inexpensive. Huggins said it's conceivable that other research scientists could begin testing these materials in humans within a few months—with smokers being given pills daily, just like a vitamin pill.

SALESMAN:

More comfort and space per dollar!

FATHER: How do you figure that?

SALESMAN: Look inside the Austin 1100. There's space to spare for your whole family, and room for enough luggage for a two-week vacation. Only BMC could build a 12-foot car this roomy and still price it right down there with small cars that can't compare in comfort!

FATHER: Sure looks roomy!

SALESMAN: Surprising, isn't it? You can pack luggage in the door pockets, under the back seat, on the dash shelf—and you still have a 9½-cubic-foot trunk to fill! And comfort? There's room in there for five people without crowding!

FATHER: So that's the secret!

SALESMAN: That's it . . . BMC saves space by mounting the engine sideways. You get front-wheel drive too, for better traction. And there's a big point. The Austin 1100 drives up to 40 miles to a gallon of gas—tough to beat in a family car!

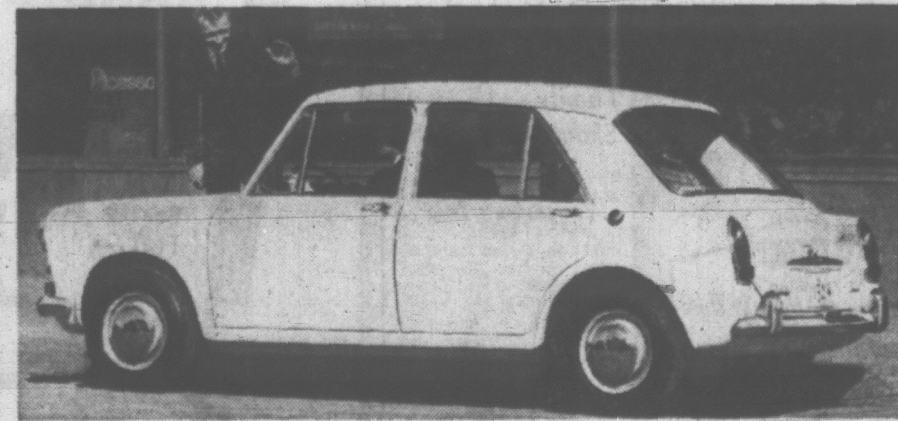

FATHER: No springs? How come?

SALESMAN: This is the biggest idea in suspension systems in years . . . BMC's new Hydra-Balance suspension. No springs, no shock absorbers, yet the ride is so incredibly smooth you'd think you were driving on a Carpet. Yes sir, Hydra-Balance makes ordinary suspension systems obsolete!

MOTHER: I think I'd enjoy driving this car.

SALESMAN: Indeed you would. It handles beautifully, parks easily, stops safely with disc brakes. A perfect car for children too. The interior is completely washable, and BMC builds in foolproof safety locks on the back doors. Great features for the price!

FATHER: I'd certainly like to try it out!

SALESMAN: Go right ahead. The smooth ride will really amaze you . . . so will the comfort. If you're like a lot of people who try it, you'll soon be an Austin 1100 owner too!

U.S. COURT 'UPHOLDS' CUBAN TAKE-OVERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court ruled today that U.S. courts must treat as valid Fidel Castro's nationalization of American property in Cuba.

As a result, Cuba can legally collect $175,000 realized from the sale of some sugar belonging to a seized American company. The case will have a bearing on many others with millions of dollars at stake.

Since Congress has frozen all Cuban funds in the United States, however, the Castro regime cannot get its hands on the money.

Sellout Crowd Enjoys First Daffodil Revue

About 500 persons packed the Empress ballroom Saturday night for the first Daffodil Revue.

The Spring Flower Festival attraction was a sellout, and

The two hours of vaudeville were enjoyed by visitors from Winnipeg, Calgary, Prince Edward Island, California and South Africa.

Kent Denies Seeking Seat in Parliament

OTTAWA—Tom Kent, 41-year-old policy assistant to Prime Minister Pearson, has no present intention of seeking election to the House of Commons.

A speculative story noting the existence of two vacancies in the Commons said that one theory was that Mr. Pearson might ask the constituency association in Nipissing to accept Mr. Kent as its candidate.

Mr. Kent was asked today if the report was correct. He replied, "there is no basis at all for this speculation."

HARRY'S IRKED AT 'WELCOME'

Well to Heck With Saanich!

Harry Haigh is not going to move to Saanich after all, he says.

But he insists he will leave his present location at 1586 Rockland Avenue by the end of May.

He decided against going to Saanich after the municipal building inspector told him to remove some material he deposited on his newly-acquired property at 5860 West Saanich Road.

Said Mr. Haigh: "I put that stuff there because I want to use it for building. But the Saanich people won't believe me. They think I'm going to move a bunch of junk in there."

Mr. Haigh has had numerous troubles with the city building inspector about operating a junkyard in the high-class Rockland district near Government House.

Mr. Haigh recently sold his Rockland Avenue home to Belvedere Estates and nearby residents are now concerned about what the new owner intends to do with the property.

NO COMMENT

Bob Price, lawyer for Belvedere, refused to comment on the sale today. He denied knowing anything about Belvedere's plans. He denied even knowing about Belvedere.

Said Mr. Price: "I don't know anything about Belvedere and if I did I wouldn't say."

Mr. Haigh said he has to move out by the end of May. He intends to auction off everything he has stored in the house and its surrounding grounds.

What about the property in Saanich?

"I'm going to sell that."

Where is he going to live?

"I'll go to Harrison Hot Springs for a while. All this fighting with the building inspector has been bad for my health."

Brodie's Bakery's soccer sights are set today on bigger game.

The Bakers have vanquished all Vancouver Island opponents and now advance into another round of Province Cup competition against winners of preliminary rounds on the mainland.

The Victoria and District League side won the Island zone final Saturday at Royal Athletic Park, downing Elk Falls United of Campbell River 3-1 in a scramble match.

Allan Glen set the pace for Brodie's with two goals and Ralph Marwood chipped in with one goal. Lone tally for Elk Falls was notched by Jim Douglas, former player with Victoria United.

Action was light in the District League Sunday.

In the only first division game, front-running Victoria West had to go all out to avoid defeat at the hands of third-place Gorge Hotel and finally settled for a 2-2 draw.

University of Victoria breezed to an 8-1 second-division triumph over Dunlop and Gorge won by default from Kings.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Comedian Jack Carter of TV and night clubs says it is embarrassing going through life being mistaken for Johnny Carson, of the "Tonight" show, and Jack Carson, who's deceased.

"The confusion's been going on for years," says Carter, whose real name's Chakrin.

"When I was doing the 'Saturday Night Revue' on NBC, we went to Syracuse to salute a new affiliate, Charles Donney, then-president of NBC, introduced me. He said, 'And now here's our star—Jack Carson.'"

"So I said, 'Thank you, Reginald Denney and Nick Kenney.' Paula Stewart, Jack's wife, who co-stars with him at the Waldorf Empire Room, claims that Jack "likes to play in the street." The other day, he heard a couple of garbage truck drivers yelling:

"Hey, there's your boy Johnny Carson," bellowed one.

"Nah, yuh jerk," replied the other. "That's Jack Paar."

Jack Chakrin became Carter while in a Major Bowes unit about 1940. (Merrill Miller was in it; he became Robert Merrill).

"I'm stuck with a name I really don't like," he says.

Max Asnas, the Stage Deli catessen proprietor, calls him "Jake Carter." An Indian woman wrote from Oklahoma

April 3 in St. John Ambulance asking if he was the Carter boy show business. I myself had an unhappy experience about Jack Carter's name. Having hurt his feelings about something, I wanted to mend it by writing a flattering sentence concerning his appearance on TV.

I wrote about Jack Carter's brilliant performance—but a linotypist set it "Jack Carson."

Ed Sullivan has helped straighten out the confusion somewhat by using Carter on 40 programs. Carter's favorite impersonation is of Sullivan. "Sullivan isn't himself anymore," Carter says. "He just comes out and does an impression of me doing an impression of him. Sullivan should be our next president."

Mike Forward Wins Toastmaster Round

Mike Forward, representing the Royal Canadian Navy preparatory school, was named winner of a preliminary round in Toastmasters International golden gavel competition Friday night.

Bill Taylor, another navy prep school student, placed second. Topic was "Should We Abolish Capital Punishment?"

Both will advance to city finals April 3 in St. John Ambulance Auditorium.

He could be up there on Mount Rushmore with Lincoln and Washington. He doesn't need to be chiseled out of stone—he already is."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Sybil Burton's April 2 departure for Europe's booked on the (can you believe it?) Queen Elizabeth!... Ronald DeMunn, hairdresser for Barbara Streisand in "Funny Girl," flew secretly to Montreal to do Liz Taylor's wedding coiff—also gave Richard a nuptial trim (rumored fee: $1,000).

Milton Berle's leaving the Wm. Morris agency after 30 years to go with Freddie Fields & David Diegelman. But the former takes commissions till 1981 on his NBC pay.

Herb Shriner said at Le Manoir he's in town to discuss a radio show, and may be an exhibitor at the Fair... Jane Morgan got flowers from Cary Grant at her Coconut Grove opening, and promises to keep them "till they turn to dust."

Albert Finney has MGM interested in a film to star him with Liz Taylor (and without B. Burton)... Natalie Wood turned down a cameo role in "Mickey One" with her former beau, Warren Beatty.

Carol Lawrence reports a $500 wardrobe was swiped from her dressing room in a west coast cafe... The star of a B-way show (married) left his wife and is romancing the pretty ingenue (unmarried) of another B-way show.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The custom of Greenwich Village artists showing their paintings on the sidewalks stems from an old Bohemian tradition—non-payment of rent.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Hugh Allen tells how to identify the modern home: "That's where the bathroom is bigger than the kitchen."

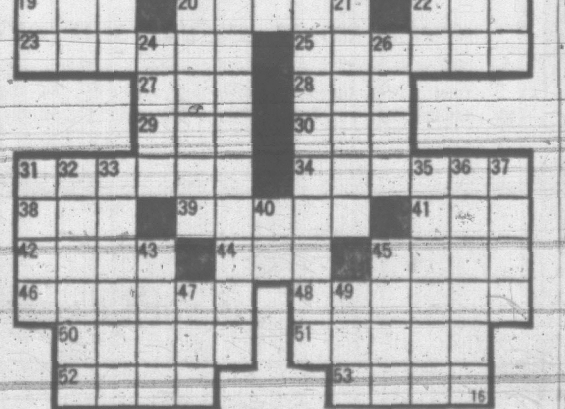

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Blessed is the man who can laugh at himself, for he will never cease to be amused."—M. W. Larmour.

EARL'S PEARLS: You can't always tell which women count their calories—but you can certainly tell which of them don't.

That's earl, brother.

U.K. Reds Expel Peking Supporters

LONDON (AP)—The British Communist party has dissolved its branch at the London School of Economics, famed centre for left-wing doctrine under the late professor Harold J. Laski.

The branch's three members were expelled from the party, apparently for siding with Peking in the current Soviet-Chinese ideological feud.

The expulsions follow a revolt last November by 14 British Communists opposed to the party's leadership, which favors Moscow in communists' family battle. There have been a number of resignations and expulsions from the party since then and there are signs the leaders may undertake a purge of "deviationists" after Britain's national elections this year.

Laski, a leading socialist theoretician and advocate of Soviet style planning, had wide influence in British intellectual circles during his long professorship at the London School of Economics. He died in 1950.

Cleric Who Hasn't Seen it Scores CBC Easter Play

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican Bishop of Toronto has protested as "sacrilegious, unhistorical and offensive" a CBC television program scheduled for Wednesday night which portrays the death and resurrection of Christ in modern terms.

Rt. Rev. F. H. Wilkinson sent a telegram to CBC president Alphonse Ouimet, protesting the showing of a special program entitled The Open Grave.

The presentation depicts a character called Joshua Corbett as a ban-the-bomb pacifist who is railroaded to the gallows of Toronto's Don Jail and buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery here. His grave is later discovered empty.

Bishop Wilkinson, who said the program had not been submitted to the religious advisory council of the CBC, said in an interview today: "To relate the resurrection of Our Lord to a scene in a local graveyard is a thing beyond all imagining."

But CBC executive producer James Guthrie said he is sure people will like the show when they see it. Far from sacrilege, he said, it is an attempt to make the New Testament more relevant to modern life.

Other Toronto church leaders were reluctant to condemn the production before seeing it. Dr. Ernest Long, secretary of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, said the production must be respected if it is a sincere attempt to depict the resurrection in contemporary terms.

The program, written by Charles Israel, has a cast of 150 and was filmed at a cost of $50,000. It was shot in and around Toronto, including a night-shooting session at a cemetery, complete with grave.

New Study Proposed In Garbage Site Row

Saanich Meeting Tonight

A technical survey of Hartland Road garbage dump should be made by Metropolitan Board of Health—the sole Greater Victoria body with any authority over the dump—Saanich councillor Harold Todd said today.

Coun. Todd, chairman of Saanich health and welfare committee, will suggest a full engineering survey when the committee sits tonight. He said the controversial garbage dump would be the first order of business at 7:30.

REAL EYESORE
"It is certainly an eyesore," Coun. Todd observed. He inspected the dump Friday following complaints by Prospect Lake Community Association that pollution, rodent and gull infestation and smoke nuisance are becoming unbearable.

Association president G. A. C. Denford said membership wants the dump closed permanently. There are no acceptable remedial measures, he said.

Coun. Todd pointed out that Saanich cannot act alone in the matter. Not only is the dump in unorganized territory and beyond the control of any municipality, but—Victoria, Central Saanich and Sidney also use the disposal ground.

At the same time, he noted, Metro Health Board can control only from a sanitary point of view, air pollution and unsightliness notwithstanding.

LOSE REVENUE
If Victoria—the biggest user—withdraws its garbage, the disposal firm operating the dump would lose considerable revenue, Coun. Todd said.

"But I can't see Victoria going to the expense of building a $2 or $3 million disposal plant," he said.

Perhaps a system such as used at Highland Sanitary Centre Ltd., on Millstream Road, could be used, the councillor suggested. All garbage fed into this disposal area is incinerated and residue used for land fill.

Victoria, meanwhile, has asked for an interim report by Metro Health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, who is also expected to discuss the matter in a letter to Saanich health committee tonight.

Fire Threatens Ship
Quick work by navy firemen prevented heavy damage to the HMCS Ottawa when a welding machine caused a fire aboard the ship Sunday.

The Ottawa is undergoing refit and is at the government graving dock in Esquimalt.

Masset fell victim to the epidemic, resulting in the reopening of the Red Cross hospital.

A doctor and two nurses were brought in but within a week they were run off their feet. Most of the patients were either very young or very old Indians and required considerable attention.

The navy, which maintains a radio station at Masset, asked for volunteers to stand tricks in the wards and help out with the feeding. The sailors quickly responded and soon became adept at caring for their bedridden charges. They even supplied entertainment when the situation eased off after a time.

CHICKEN PIE
Navy cooks Able Seaman K. J. Dorosh and Leading Seaman L. G. Bagley, both of Victoria, put up chicken pie, cakes, meat loaf and beef and delivered them over a three-day period.

Able Seaman Brendon C. F. Smith of Montreal also helped out with feeding. His wife, Brenda, herself a Red Cross nurse, joined in during the emergency even though she was pregnant.

Leading Seaman R. H. Petrie, Victoria, whose father, Dr. R. M. Petrie is director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Saanich, helped out in the wards and showed that his early training in "swabbing the decks" was not wasted.

And most of the naval personnel at the base escaped the epidemic.

37 Apply To Manage Playhouse

City council will have a big field to choose from when it appoints a business manager for the McPherson Playhouse, now under construction as a civic theatre.

A total of 37 applications were received by this morning and several more were expected before tonight's deadline.

No salary was stipulated in the advertisement for applications. The job includes bookkeeping as well as operating the building.

"Applications have come from this area, Vancouver, the B.C. interior, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, and other Canadian centres," city manager Dennis Young said. One application also was received from Seattle.

All will be screened by the personnel office and then sent to the civic precinct committee. A selection is likely within a few weeks so that organization of the opening and subsequent programs can begin while the theatre is being rebuilt and expanded. Completion is expected this fall.

Strikers Scour Esquimalt Parks For Lost Girl
Striking shipyard workers were out scouring parks in Esquimalt this morning looking for a 12-year-old girl missing from her home since Sunday morning.

Sandra Lalonde, 1342 Esquimalt Road, was last seen at the Esquimalt Sports Centre shortly after 4 p.m. When she failed to show up at home later the police were asked to look for her.

The shipyard workers, who are out on strike at present, heard of the search and offered to help. Their search today was concentrated on the high-rock natural park opposite Lampson Street School which Sandra attended.

She is described as looking older than her age, about 5'6" tall, weighing approximately 115 pounds and with light brown hair and fair complexion.

When last seen she was wearing an olive green car coat with a white fur collar and black slacks.

Stricken Sailor Reaches Hospital
A 48-year-old seaman is in "fairly good" condition today in St. Joseph's Hospital after he suffered a heart attack Saturday aboard the navy's auxiliary vessel Oshawa.

James Hay of 477 Joffre became ill and forced the ship to return to port.

Now, I wonder what she meant by that? Did she really mean to wish me "GOOD MORNING"? MAYBE SHE WAS BEING SARCASTIC...

MAYBE SHE WAS TRYING TO TEACH ME TO BE POLITE... MAYBE SHE THOUGHT SOMEONE FROM THE SCHOOL BOARD WAS LISTENING...

MAYBE WHEN I MEET HER IN THE HALL, IT WOULD BE BEST TO LOOK THE OTHER WAY...

Overload Staggers Road-ee
The Spring Flower Festival's inter-car club automobile road-ee wilted under a heavy field of entrants and crowd control problems Sunday afternoon.

Twenty of the 48 drivers representing 12 local car clubs have still to complete the final driving skill test—negotiating a figure eight in first gear and reverse.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event at the Town and Country shopping plaza, announced the road-ee will be completed there April 5, starting at 9 a.m.

Trophies to team and individual winners will be presented by Ald. Cecil Parrott and Miss Victoria Merle Webb at 11:30 a.m.

POLICE JUDGES
Tests completed, Sunday were a written exam, parking and straight line driving.

Drivers were judged by members of the four Greater Victoria municipal police departments and the staff of the provincial government's motor vehicles branch.

'Did I Ever Feel Like a Celebrity!'

Victoria's "Daffodil Queen," 18-year-old Jan Laidlaw, is enjoying an exciting whirl of activity.

The University of Victoria education student who became Queen on Friday evening is now in Ontario telling one and all about Vancouver Island's daffodil industry and Victoria's Spring Flower Festival.

The idea, of course, is to promote the golden blossoms as well as tourist travel here. Queen Jan is sending the Times daily reports on her trip. Here is the first:

By JAN LAIDLAW

TORONTO—I just can't believe it is all happening to me.

This morning (Sunday) at six o'clock Victoria time which is really 9 o'clock Ontario time I got up at home. And tonight I'm in the largest hotel in the British Empire. I ate in the largest dining room I've ever seen and had the biggest and the nicest steak.

The trip from Victoria was simply marvellous. The air was smooth and the big DC8 seemed to whisk us here in no time at all. And did I feel like a celebrity when we landed?

JUST MISSED LIZ
There were photographers and an interview and everyone was just wonderful to me. And to think, I missed seeing Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton who left just a couple of hours before I got here.

One of the really exciting things I've seen so far is the new Toronto International Airport itself. It is absolutely amazing and the traffic is incredible.

Toronto, as much as I've seen of it, is big and sprawling. And Lake Ontario looks as big as the ocean. Already I've had a ride on the subway and had a glimpse of Maple Leaf Gardens from the outside and a walk down Yonge Street to look at the stores. And this has happened in less than 12 hours. I still can't believe it.

IT'S COLD
It was sunny when we got here but it is rather cold tonight and not at all like home. In spite of all the glamor of travelling here I'm sure that there is no place quite like Victoria and my chaperone, Mrs. Joan Fraser, agrees.

And, of course, I can't thank enough all those responsible for making my trip possible. It is proving to be the biggest thrill of my life, especially since I've never been out of B.C. before.

Tomorrow I meet the mayor and do a TV appearance and then a radio interview so it looks like another busy day. I'll tell you all about it tomorrow.

LIFETIME CITY RESIDENT
Cathedral Rites Tuesday For Teacher of 50 Years
Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in Christ Church Cathedral for Mrs. Edna Godson, a teacher in Greater Victoria schools for 50 years.

Mrs. Godson, a lifetime Victoria resident, died here Saturday, age 70.

She retired from her position as part-time teacher and head mistress at St. Margaret's School two years ago. She also taught at the old Boys' Central School and Victoria High School where she became a high school graduate at 14 years of age.

LIBRARY CHAIRMAN
She later studied two years at Victoria College and completed her B.A. at McGill University.

For many years she was chairman of Victoria Public Library Board and was also a past president of the University Women's Club.

She was an active member of Christ Church Cathedral. Mrs. Godson is survived by a son, Dr. Warren L. Godson, Toronto; a daughter, Mrs. Eugene Aristoff, Philadelphia; a sister, Mrs. L. La Garde, Los Angeles, and eight grandchildren.

Overload Staggers Road-ee

The Spring Flower Festival's inter-car club automobile road-ee wilted under a heavy field of entrants and crowd control problems Sunday afternoon.

Twenty of the 48 drivers representing 12 local car clubs have still to complete the final driving skill test—negotiating a figure eight in first gear and reverse.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event at the Town and Country shopping plaza, announced the road-ee will be completed there April 5, starting at 9 a.m.

Trophies to team and individual winners will be presented by Ald. Cecil Parrott and Miss Victoria Merle Webb at 11:30 a.m.

CATCH AS CATCH CAN

Only catch of the day Sunday for fisherman Alex M. Watt, 2776 Thompson, was this "perch" high atop Harris Reef, near Oak Bay Marina Sunday. It was a lucky catch, however, as Mr. Watt said his craft might have capsized "if I had been blown two feet more to the south." His 28-foot cabin cruiser became trapped in a tide rip and drifted onto the reef, aided by a stiff north wind. Marina staff re-floated the cruiser, which sustained light hull damage, at high tide early this morning.

CHEK Cutback Checked Out By BBG Man

The No. 2 man in Canada's Board of Broadcast Governors is in Victoria checking on CHEK-TV's cutback of local programs.

Carlyle Allison, BBG vice-chairman, arrived last week and has seen a number of persons in his Empress Hotel room who have complained about the station since it was bought out last June by Vantel Broadcasting Ltd., owners of CHAN-TV.

MORE, BETTER
He also went fishing over the weekend with David M. Armstrong, one of the previous owners who sold CHEK-TV. Mr. Armstrong said at the time the deal would bring more and better programs to Victoria viewers and no staff changes.

A 36-year-old Saanich housewife, who asked not to be identified, was one of several persons who made direct complaints to the board that local programs have been dropped since the takeover.

She said she had previously protested to the station but was ignored so she fired off letters to City Hall, Saanich council and finally to the BBG itself—the last one got action.

Earlier this month, Mr. Allison himself sent her this reply:

WATCHING, LISTENING
"Just a note to assure you that your letter... to the board has not fallen on deaf ears or blind eyes."

"We have been in touch with Mr. Ray Peters, president of CHAN-TV, by long-distance telephone and expect a full report from him by letter in the next few days."

"It is also possible that a member of the board will travel to Vancouver and Victoria for an on-the-spot inquiry if this seems necessary."

Ask The Times

Q. Could you tell me if the French Foreign Legion is still in existence? D.T.

A. Yes it is but its forces were cut back from 15,000 to 9,000 men last summer as it is no longer needed to keep watch over a non-existent French empire.

Of its present force, 3,000 have formed a "legion of builders," which is a huge public works enterprise at the disposal of underdeveloped African countries.

Another 3,500 with paratrooper training were integrated into the French army and the remainder staff seven African outposts, five of which are in Algeria.

The Legion used to receive an average of 700 applications a month from rejected suitors or men who wished these have now declined to about 100.

The Legion is now in its 132nd year.

New Spring Fashion Lines For Those Easter Outfits

By PENNY SAVER

The very feminine and masculine lines in fashions for spring and summer of 1964 are showing strongly even in clothes for the younger set.

Flounces, ruffles and lace are setting the pace in little girl styles, and the tailored "big boy" look is taking over for the young man.

Cotton, seersucker, gingham and blended fabrics are leading the popularity list for wearability, cleaning and coolness.

Perfectly in order for Easter and styled exclusively for the "romper crowd" are matching shirt and plastic lined pant sets. These come in medium, large and extra-large sizes and prices in one shop have been reduced from $4 to $2.99.

One set has a cotton and seersucker top and matching seersucker pants. Top has sleeves and collar made of white cotton attached to a blue and white seersucker vest. Set comes complete with matching removable bow tie.

For the petite Miss there's a delicate nylon frock priced at $5.99. Dress comes in pink, white or aqua and the full skirt has rows of frothy white lace in scallops around the bottom.

And, to top her Easter frock are coat and bonnet outfits. One in pale pink was made of a linen-type weave of viscose and combed cotton.

Embroidered flowers are gaily interspersed across the front of the yoked coat, and the long sleeves are gathered into a wide cuff. The gathered bonnet features an unbreakable brim. Price of the outfit is $10.99.

Shop not only specializes in children's clothing but also prides itself on its invisible mending.

Tea Dyes Lace for Bridal Gown

LONDON (AP)—At 16 Downing Street, official residence of Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, tea is not only a beverage but a dye.

Lady Douglas-Home said the new use for Britain's national drink was discovered by her 24-year-old daughter, Meriel.

Meriel is marrying economist Adrian Darby today. Her wedding dress is of raw silk and lace cuffs.

Lady Douglas-Home said Meriel used a pot of weak tea to dye the lace to match the tint of the dress.

Spring Madness Hit Ohio Hotel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The venerable Neil House here is organizing what rummage-sale veterans might describe as sheer madness.

The hotel's new owners plan to open 100 rooms to all women next Saturday to grab and claim what they may. If the hotel is still standing after the raid, a massive renovation job will begin.

Men will be barred.

All female comers will be assigned to teams of 50 each. The teams will be taken to one of three floors and turned loose in either the north or south wing. At a signal the women will have 15 minutes to claim one item which will be tagged by checkers and picked up later.

Mark Mowrey, the hotel's new general manager, said word of the raid plans have spread across the state and he understands some organizations will send in caravans.

"The entire hotel is going to be refurbished as well as renovated and this is one way to get the furniture moved out," Mowrey said.

Diaper Service is A Mum's Best Friend!

VANCOUVER (CP)—The diaper service operator brings a welcome breath of fresh air to one of the less pleasant features of parenthood.

But first he must convince Canada's young mothers that diapers are a drudgery, not a duty; that a mother who sends the nappies out doesn't love her baby any the less.

"It's a psychological thing," says Walter Lavey, who owns about 2,100 dozen diapers.

"Some women have to talk themselves into diaper service... A lot of women feel that if their mothers washed diapers at home, why should they send them out."

Mr. Lavey began working with a diaper service here in 1946 and he and his wife took over the business in 1953.

"There's a lot to know about washing diapers," he said. "It's taken me 10 years to really learn."

In that time he has found himself the owner of more diapers than most people can imagine—excepting queasy fathers with nightmares. He not only launders diapers but rents out his supply of them so that mothers can use the pre-folded brand he carries, use their own or combine the two.

WOMEN DRIVERS

A deodorized diaper pail goes along with the service, and women drivers deliver the new supplies twice a week to the waiting infants.

"We use women drivers for a number of reasons," Mr. Lavey said.

"Often when deliveries or pickups are made the mothers are only half-dressed and there's less embarrassment if the drivers are women.

"Also, the women have had experience bringing up children and this helps because often they find themselves being handed a baby while the mother dashes to answer the phone or something."

The man in the family, Mr. Lavey finds, can be a great help in keeping a family pinned to the services his firm offers.

"Sometimes after service has been discontinued after the first few weeks or months home, I'll get a call from the father who doesn't like washing diapers."

"Or he'll suddenly notice diaper odor in the house, and it wasn't there when the diapers were being sent out."

Lace Accents Velvet Bridal Gown

Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated at the ceremony in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Saturday evening which united Dianne Lorraine Wickens and Leslie William Sirokai.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. David Wickens, 871 Fleming Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Bertalan Sirokai of Budapest, Hungary. Mr. Wickens gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of lustrous French velvet styled on empire lines. The bodice was enhanced with embroidered Guipure lace and the softly full skirt swept into a full chapel train. Her three-tier tulle veil misted from a coronet of pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white and yellow roses.

Flamingo brocade gowns with matching organza jackets were choice of maid of honor, Miss Linda Richmond, bridesmaids, the Misses Carol Wickens, cousin of the bride, and Pat Stahel and Junior Bridesmaid, Miss Thoral Carrington, another cousin. Toning organza misted from their brocade pillbox headpieces and all carried colonial bouquets of light and dark pink carnations.

Steve Sallos was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Pete Wickens.

Island Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, Tuesday at 8 p.m., upper hall, K of P Hall, 723 Cormorant St.

brother of the bride, Tony Szabo and Joe Pjancsek.

Arthur Carrington proposed the toast to his niece at a reception which followed in Dockyard Recreation Hall. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake made by her aunt, Mrs. P. Wickens. Yellow and white roses completed the decor. The bride and groom received guests beneath an arch decorated with daffodils, roses and fern.

Following a honeymoon trip to the United States, the couple will make their home here.

For travelling, the bride donned a two-piece yellow wool suit, white straw hat, white accessories and white and yellow rose corsage.

Enchanting Bride in White Satin Gown With Pearls and Crystals

The strains of "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven" greeted Donna Margaret Burridge when she entered St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Saturday evening, for her marriage to Norris Martin. She was lovely in a Balenciaga designed gown of snow white satin, styled on slim lines with a princess-line bodice, highlighted with a long-sleeved overblouse, encrusted with crystals and tear-drop pearls. Her tithan hair was enhanced with a coronet of orange blossoms, from which misted a cathedral-length veil of fine

DEAR ABBY...

But Not Biology!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I beg to inform you that the female parakeet does not talk. Only the male can be taught to talk. It is the same with canaries. The female canary will give out with an occasional chirp, but only the male canary will burst forth into song. If it will make you feel better, Abby, the female of the feathered family is more beautiful. But let's be honest, she contributes nothing and is strictly ornamental.

KNOWS HIS BIRDS
DEAR KNOWS: Is that so? The rooster does the crowing, but it's the hen which lays the eggs.

DEAR ABBY: I recently visited a young dentist who was recommended to me by a friend. When I got into the chair, rock and roll music started playing right in my ear. I am a matron, 58, and I never listen to that kind of music at home as it is nerve-racking. I enjoy soft, semi-classical music, however. I debated whether I should ask the dentist to shut it off, but decided not to say anything. Then the dentist started humming along with the music! I didn't want to upset him while he was working on my teeth, so I kept silent. I wish there were some way to let him know why I never went back to him, although he was a good dentist.

FAITHFUL READER
DEAR FAITHFUL: Let me help: Confidential to all dentists who use music: Ask your patients if they want music and, if so, if they have a preference. PS: It's all right to whistle while you work—but don't hum.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been divorced from his first wife for 12 years, and married to me for 10. She has never remarried. She still calls him on the phone, but never at home, only at his office. I know this because I have been at his office when she's called. She claims she wants nothing from him, and only calls to give him news and health reports on their daughter. This daughter is 24, married, in good health, and is able to take care of herself. I don't trust this "ex." What do you think she really wants? I am just about ready to let her have it. (Right between the eyes!) But I don't think that is what she has in mind, do you?

JOHN'S OTHER WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Hardly. But she could probably use something between the ears. Your husband can't help it if she calls him, but you might ask him how often she calls. If she overdoes it, it is up to him to straighten her out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DOUBT A"
DEAR ABBY: Let your 22-year-old son find his own job. You are protecting him from the same hard knocks that made a man out of you.

Get it off your chest. For a

Is There A Mother Of Year?

A non-profit association, the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, is now conducting its annual search for the mother worthy of being named Canadian Mother of the Year.

If you know a mother whom you consider worthy of the honor, send her name and qualifications to FTD-Canadian Mother of the Year, Box 4044, Ottawa. All nominations must be postmarked no later than March 31.

A panel of eminent judges will vote on Mrs. Edith O'Regan and other nominees. The Mother of 1964 will be brought to Ottawa for an all-expense tour of the capital. She will be presented with a Mother's Day bouquet at a luncheon held in her honor and will be able to wire a duplicate of her bouquet to anyone, anywhere in the world. And for the subsequent 12 months she will have delivered to her door a flower-of-the-month arrangement.

The selected FTD Mother will tour Parliament Hill, be presented to Her Excellency Madame Vanier, Mrs. Lester Pearson, and Her Worship Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

One of the first mothers to be nominated for the title is Mrs. Edith O'Regan of Ottawa. She was nominated by two friends, Mrs. R. F. Grant and Mrs. Earle Clarke.

Edith O'Regan is the mother of four girls and one son from seven to 16. Her husband, Peter, works as a civil servant in Ottawa. Edith sews and knits for her family and enjoys doing needlepoint. Her unusual hobby is collecting antique glass inkwells, and when time permits she haunts antique shops for them. The O'Regans enjoy the outdoors

Sing a Song for Mummy-O... is the serenade the four O'Regan children sing for Mrs. Edith O'Regan of Ottawa, one of the first mothers nominated for the FTD Canadian Mother-of-the-Year title. The children are Sean, 7; Ann, 9; Mary, 12; Ellen 14. Patricia, who is 16, was involved with after-school activity when this picture was taken.

and go skating in winter at nearby Camp Fortune and in summer they go camping. Loving and caring for five children absorbs many hours but Edith makes time for outside interests. She has worked actively for Brownies and Girl Guides; is a member of the Catholic Women's League and a member of the PTA. But her greatest interest is the Multiple Sclerosis Society. As she states it: "...next to my family, an MS patient is the dearest thing to my heart."

Edith's awareness of MS patients' needs began 13 years ago when her sister contracted the disease. Since then she has worked tirelessly doing the kind, personal things that mean so much to someone confined to a bed or wheel chair. In her job as chairman of the patients' services committee she is alive to the needs of the 150 known MS cases in Ottawa and does what she can to meet them by personal contact, or interesting others to help those who often cannot help themselves. Multiple Sclerosis is a crippling disease of the central nervous system. Its cause is wards research. Consequently the volunteer efforts of women like Edith O'Regan are so essential. She does personal shopping, arranges for nourishing meals to be brought to their lonely rooms, and sees they have record players, books and visitors. If a young mother with MS has a child who needs dental care, Edith takes the youngster to the dentist.

The FTD Canadian Mother for 1964 may be the title given to a mother you know. Give her the opportunity for national recognition she deserves. Nominate her by March 31.

Velma Banner Married In Colwood Ceremony

Two large baskets of white chrysanthemums and stocks, pink marigolds and heather decorated St. John's Anglican Church at Colwood recently when Velma Anne Banner exchanged marriage vows with Frederick S. Priske.

Rev. D. A. Hatfield officiated at the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Banner of Sooke, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Priske of Colwood. Mr. Banner gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie styled on princess lines. The bodice featured a slightly draped neckline and lily point sleeves. The skirt swept back into a slight train. Her fingertip veil misted from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible topped with gardenias.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Steven Vowels, wore a street-length gown of deep aqua satin featuring a wide cummerbund and bow at back.

Don't Blame The Cleaner!

OTTAWA (CP) — Don't be too quick to blame the cleaner when your clothes come back from a dry cleaning firm in less than perfect condition.

Members of the Canadian Research Institute of Launderers and Cleaners say manufacturers who use inferior materials are often responsible for damage to clothing during the dry-cleaning process.

Fancy buttons made of inferior plastic often dissolve in the cleaning solvent, marring all clothes around them, says a pamphlet issued by the institute. Poor dyes on buttons run, and paper backing disintegrates. Dresses covered with sequins are poor dry-cleaning risks. The sequins, if made of gelatine, dissolve in water. Their color wears off easily and sometimes numbers of them are held to the material by one thread which cannot withstand the action of cleaning machines.

Another hazard of dry cleaning is found in the interlinings of light-colored clothes which are sometimes colored with cheap black dye. It runs through during cleaning. The cleaner has no way of knowing about the interlinings without ripping the garment apart.

The only way he can save the garment, says the pamphlet, is to wash out quickly all of the dye in the interlining.

DYES DECEPTIVE
If the dye is still there when you receive the article from the cleaners, it is too late to do anything about it other than make a claim to the manufacturers for damages.

Clothing dyes can be deceptive. Poor dyes aren't always apparent after the first cleaning. They may hold up for three or four cleanings before washing out or fading.

The pamphlet says customers may be responsible for much of the clothing damage blamed on cleaners.

For example, if you splatter lotion from cold-wave home permanents on clothes, you may find that loss of color will not show up until the heat of the cleaner's drying process brings it out.

Perfume also can remove color and leave dye rings. It sometimes leaves a stain that cannot be removed. The institute advises you to keep perfume off your clothes, "unless the maker specifically recommends it for such use."

Ironing a stained garment could set the stain permanently. If deodorants are ironed in without washing, the acid may weaken the fabric to the point where it gives way at the cleaners.

It isn't fair to blame the dry cleaner if your clothes come back to you with holes which look like they were made by moths, says the pamphlet.

Moth damage doesn't always show until after cleaning loosens weakened fibres and virtually nothing in the cleaning process can make a hole like a moth's."

BE SMART—

Any way you look at it, everything's coming up ruffles in the spring and summer fashion picture. Here's one blouse we chose to wear with our navy suit... a beruffled shirt-blouse in smooth red polka dot silk.

shade of aqua were choice of bridesmaids, the Misses Darla Banner and Susan Exton. All wore diamond tiaras and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Petite Miss Jill Banner was flower girl in an A-line frock of embroidered pink taffeta. She carried a basket of pink flowers and blue ribbons.

Best man was Kenneth Priske and ushering guests to the pews were Ted Banner, Ted Priske and Ed Eve.

At a reception which followed in the church hall, the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. The cake was cut with a silver knife which was used by the bride's maternal grandmother. White and pink carnations, tulips and freesia completed the decor. Guest tables were decorated with white candles in blue and white tulle. Toast was proposed by C. D. Banner.

For travelling on a honeymoon-trip motoring to Vancouver and Seattle, the bride wore a blue wool suit accented with a sapphire mink collar, matching hat and black accessories. Pink roses were in her corsage.

The couple are now making their home in Sooke.

Carrot cookies are easy on the eye, marvellous to eat and a perfect offering from the "Easter bunny."

Easter Bunny and Carrot Cookies

When you plan the contents of your youngsters' Easter baskets—candy, hard-cooked eggs and trinkets—leave room for carrot cookies. These delightful new cookies are a perfect surprise from the "Easter bunny."

Made with bran flakes and mashed carrots, the cookies are crunchy and have a golden color and delicate flavor. Frost them prettily with an orange sugar glaze.

CARROT COOKIES

Two cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup soft shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup cooked carrots (mashed), ¼ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring, ½ teaspoon lemon or orange extract, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons orange juice.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend shortening and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in carrots, milk, vanilla and lemon flavorings. Add sifted dry ingredients together with bran flakes; mix well. Drop by level tablespoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 18 minutes.

Combine confectioners' sugar and orange juice. Frost cookies when cool.

Yield: about 4½ dozen cookies, 1½ inches in diameter.

Note: Grated raw carrots may be substituted for cooked carrots. Decrease baking time to about 12 minutes.

WHY GROW OLD?

When You Can't Sleep Try S-T-R-E-T-C-H-I-N-G

One of the simplest ways of relaxing and thus wooing sleep, is to stretch. Before turning out the light at night stretch slowly so that you feel the pull in all your muscles. Then yawn, big yawns, which expand the rib cage, and then exhale forcibly.

A light snack at bedtime sets the digestive processes in action. The circulatory system then sends more blood to the digestive system and less to the muscles and the brain, whose activities tend to keep you awake.

A thick pillow not only contributes to wrinkles on the neck and to double chins, it also places your head in a strained position. Actually, all you need is a pillow to fill the hollow under your neck or compensate for the width of your shoulder. You can buy pint-sized foam rubber pillows or make a small one by rolling up a small towel.

Did you know that during a normal night of sleep you change positions 20 to 40 times? Yet many people sleep on beds which do not provide space for tossing and turning.

Statistics show that people are getting taller, generation by generation, yet most beds conform to the standard 75-inch length. For comfort, a bed should be six inches longer than its occupant. Consider your bed and your mattress as important factors in your ability to get to sleep and to sleep well.

Salt Spring Notes

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fitzpatrick have returned to Kelowna after spending several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. Earl Hardie in their home at Southey Point.

Mrs. Annie Rodwell has returned to Victoria after spending a month with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kirkham, in their home on Walter Hook Road.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Murakami and their daughter, Violet, have returned to their Rainbow Road home after visiting the Murakamis' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. Kitagawa, of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hart Bradley are back in their Scott Point home after a three-week holiday in the South. Accompanied by their daughter, Miss Jennifer Graham, and her friend, Miss Allison King, Vancouver, they spent 10 days in Yuma, Ariz., travelling home through California via India and San Francisco.

White and Yellow

Orange cup daffodils, yellow marguerites, white freesia and stocks set decor when the Mizpah Unit, United Church Women held a tea in Ganges United Church Hall on Salt Spring Island. Nearly $100 was realized. Mrs. J. D. Reid welcomed guests and Mrs. J. W. Catto was general convener.

Daffodils in Irish containers centred tea tables. Serviteurs were Mrs. J. G. Reid, Mrs. C. Leggett, Mrs. D. M. Abolitt, the Misses Margaret Reid and Rosemary Bridgen.

Mrs. W. M. Mout and Miss Mary Lees convened home-baking stall, Mrs. E. Parsons was in charge of needlework and Mrs. H. Ashley, receipts.

CAR JUST MISSES 70-FOOT PLUNGE

Four Injured in Bridge Crash

DUNCAN—Three young men and a woman survived a grinding crash Saturday night when their car hit a bridge railing near here and came to rest on the edge of a 70-foot embankment.

Paris Sahlen, 20, and Wayne Boyd, 21, both with the RCN at Victoria, were admitted to King's Daughters' Hospital.

Sahlen's injuries were described by hospital officials today as more serious than those of his companion. He suffered internal injuries.

"FAIRLY GOOD" His condition was reported as "fairly good."

Robert Walter Randall, 22, of 1229-Goldstream, driver of the car, and Caroline Beck, 19, of Nanose, received cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred at the cloverleaf junction of the Trans-Canada Highway—scene of several fatal accidents over the years.

The bridge, five miles north of Duncan, crosses CNR tracks which are 70 feet below. It is narrow and on a curve.

SKIDDED

RCMP said the car was travelling north and skidded on the wet surface of the bridge, striking the rail which tore open the right side of the car.

The vehicle wobbled out of control and came to a stop on the bank at the edge of the drop to the tracks.

The three passengers were thrown from the car.

Police said if the car had gone over the bank the occupants would have been lucky to escape with their lives.

The girl died in her home on the Fort Rupert Indian Reserve last June. The defence evidence was that the tot had fallen on the knife.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Police announced today the arrest of nearly 80 Negroes, about 20 of them juveniles, as racial unrest swept downtown Jacksonville.

Lawyer Wins Appeal

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan court of appeal today quashed the committal for trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the public of Dr. M. C. Shumatcher of Regina.

A vault containing the bank's own funds was not touched.

An official of the bank at the head office in Toronto said it will probably take three days before an estimate can be made of how much was stolen, but police said a large amount was involved.

Police said the thieves may have worked for weeks or months, digging through the wall into the bank from a vacant store adjoining the bank on Bridge Street, one block north of city police headquarters on the fringe of downtown Niagara Falls.

Police said the thieves, working from a washroom in the store, removed bricks individually and carefully stacked them as they worked through the wall. They then used acetylene torches to cut through steel plate three-eighths inches thick on the vault.

They opened a hole about two feet square in the vault wall and pushed aside safe-deposit boxes lining the vault at that point to gain entry.

They then opened every safe-deposit box in the vault and cleaned out everything in them.

Bank officials declined to say exactly how many boxes were broken into, but conceded that more than 100 were involved.

New Trade Plan Urged For Backward Nations

KIN TROUBLE

Lawyer Leaves Ruby Case

DALLAS (AP)—Houston lawyer Percy Foreman said today he was pulling out of the Jack Ruby case because of disagreements with members of Ruby's family. Foreman took over from Melvin Belli as chief defence counsel for the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald late last week.

Foreman said the disagreement was over his relations with the press.

He said Eve Grant, one of Ruby's sisters, advised him to limit his discussions with reporters to "no comment." Foreman said he thought that was wrong.

The 61-year-old lawyer had met with Ruby Sunday for the first time since agreeing last Thursday to take over the defence of the killer of President Kennedy's accused assassin.

He had said he would meet again today with Ruby, 52-year-old night club operator who was found guilty of murder with malice and given the death penalty on March 15 for the slaying of Oswald.

BOWING OUT

But Foreman told reporters at the courthouse that he was bowing out, and read them a letter he said he had written to Ruby, telling him of his decision.

Telling of his disagreement with Mrs. Grant, Foreman said he felt that Ruby had been tried and convicted in news media before his trial in court. He said he thought it necessary to keep the public informed of developments in the case.

Two members of Ruby's original defence team—Joe Tonsill of Jasper, Tex., and Phil Burleson of Dallas—worked with Foreman after Ruby dismissed Belli a week ago.

Foreman had a long session with the other two lawyers Sunday and after that, cautiously showed optimism, saying:

"I certainly hope to reverse the sentence. But it would be presumptuous for me to make a prediction. I am no miracle man. I have no script and no bag of tricks."

DOCTORS 'DERELICT' ON SMOKES

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP)—A top-ranking surgeon said today the American Medical Association is "derelict" in its duty for failing to urge that all cigarette packages and advertising carry a health hazard warning.

Dr. Alton Ochsner, emeritus professor of surgery, Tulane University, and a pioneer in indolent cigarette smoking as a major cause of lung cancer, made the statement in addressing the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

"Doctors should take the lead," said Dr. Ochsner. "This is a health problem."

PLANE CRASHES INTO HOUSE

'Beautiful Turn' ... Then Disaster

(See story page 11)
PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—John Shaw stood in his front yard, answering his wife's wave from the plane overhead.

Then the aircraft started into a turn, spun out of control, and dropped.

Mrs. Theodore Westfall was unaware that her husband, a tour pilot, was in the plane when he took notice of it from a mile away.

Both learned with horror that the single-engine Trojan craft had slammed into a house in this Okanagan city.

Mrs. Blanche Shaw, 36, died instantly. Westfall, 34, was in critical condition, today with multiple injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hillman, both in the house at the time, somehow escaped injury.

"They promised they would come and fly over the house and I was waiting for them out in the yard," said Shaw, a saw-mill worker.

"They made a beautiful turn. Ted is a good flier. They started to make a second turn. It looked perfectly good to me but they must have been caught in a downdraft."

"I followed the plane with my eyes as it crashed into the house. The whole thing looked unreal."

Mrs. Westfall, at home with five children aged 10 years to 20 months, said she did not think the plane was piloted by her husband.

"I saw this plane do a couple of twists and I waited for it to reappear at the other side of the valley. When it didn't I knew something had happened ... I knew he'd gone to the airport but he usually flies a small green plane—not as big as the one I watched."

She said her husband, a mechanic, has a private pilot's licence and has been flying for about five years.

Mr. Hillman said:

"I don't know how we avoided being killed. The engine of the plane dropped into a bedroom, he said, and 'if couldn't have been more than four feet from me on the other side of the wall.'"

Firemen used foot nozzles on their hoses to cut down the danger of sparks during the 35 minutes it took to free Westfall and Mrs. Shaw's body.

Eldon MacEachern whose Rapidair Service owned the plane, said he believed Westfall stalled while executing a tight

CANADIENS WIN TITLE; HODGE VEZINA WINNER

CHARLIE HODGE ... top goalkeeper

Montreal Canadiens, led by old pros Bernie Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau, captured the National Hockey League championship Sunday with a 2-1 victory over New York Rangers. Victory gave Canadiens 85 points, one more than Chicago Black Hawks, who nipped Boston 4-3.

By holding Rangers to one goal, Montreal's Charlie Hodge won the Vezina Trophy. Along with the cup, awarded to the league's best goaltender, goes $1,000.

Chicago wound up with the leading scorer in Stan Mikita (89 points) and the top goalgetter in Bobby Hull. Mikita, who also wins $1,000, beat out Hull by two points. Hull's total included 43 goals.

Finn to Mediate Cyprus Trouble

GENEVA (UPI)—UN Secretary-General Thant today asked Finnish diplomat Sakari Tuomioja to become UN political mediator on Cyprus.

Authoritative sources said Tuomioja, the 52-year-old Finnish ambassador to Sweden, accepted the job, pending approval from the British, Turkish and Greek governments.

The sources said Thant will begin soon to win that approval.

Thant and Tuomioja met for 90 minutes today at UN European headquarters here. After the meeting Thant confirmed that "we discussed the question of naming a mediator."

Thant also conferred with Indian General Prem Singh Gyani, the military commander of the United Nations peace force on Cyprus.

The secretary-general held talks on Cyprus after opening the United Nations conference on trade and development.

Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios is understood to be willing to accept Tuomioja as mediator.

Tuomioja, however, has so far declined to make his own views public. Asked whether he would accept the job, he said he would not comment until after his meeting with Thant.

UN FORCE 'ACTIVE' SOON

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations Cyprus force will probably be declared operational before the end of this week, it was learned today.

An informant close to negotiations of formation of the force said the action will likely be taken soon after the force commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani of India, returns to Cyprus.

Gyani was in Geneva today to meet with Secretary-General U Thant and was reported planning to go back to Nicosia Wednesday to take command of the Canadian contingent already working under UN orders.

Hostages Held Briefly

NICOSIA (CP)—Shooting broke out today near the Turkish-Cypriot village of Louroudjina in Cyprus and a number of hostages were taken by the opposing sides, government and Turkish-Cypriot sources said today.

It was understood that an exchange of hostages was agreed by both sides.

U Thant Appeals At Geneva Meet

GENEVA (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant appealed today for new patterns of planning world trade that would raise the living standards of the poor countries.

He said the Communist world should be allowed to play a larger role in the international marketplace.

"How long shall we permit blind economic forces to control human relations?" he asked at the opening of a massive UN conference on trade and development.

His speech soft-pedalled the classical methods of reciprocal trade, deals being pressed here by the United States and some of its industrialized trading partners.

Thant concentrated instead on the needs of the have-not countries and said they could only be met by over-all planning of world trade to counter the underdeveloped countries' loss of income.

LAY GROUNDWORK

The Secretary General said he expects the conference to lay the groundwork for new trade policies and work out some sort of instrumentality for carrying them out. This was an apparent allusion to a Communist proposal for a new international trade organization under the United Nations—firmly opposed by the west.

"The emergence of the socialist countries, already advanced on the road to industrialization, as gradually expanding trading nations, has created strong reasons for their fuller integration into the international economy," Thant said.

He told trade ministers and other leading delegates from more than 120 nations:

"You can hardly do less than provide mankind, both in the underdeveloped and in the developed countries with a framework of principles and active policy to make a trade a real vehicle of progress toward economic development and thus help to secure universal prosperity and peace for this and succeeding generations."

Thant flew here from New York to open the conference.

He said a "unique atmosphere of agreement" prevailed over the convening of the session.

"A long chain of events has contributed over many years to the growing conviction that the United Nations must make a determined effort to deal jointly with problems of trade and problems of development or run the risk of frustrating the efforts of the organization to maintain world peace."

Thant said a large part of the world usually described as "developing" was in fact not developing, or not developing fast enough.

Such countries were not only lagging more and more behind the industrial societies but in certain cases their living standards were deteriorating, especially taking into account their population growth.

He said there must be some Continued on Page 2

BILL WITHDRAWN

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Roberts moved a motion in the Legislature today to withdraw his government's proposed Police Amendment Act and put it before the Legislature's legal committee.

Dief Cries 'Emergency' Over Play

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker tried unsuccessfully in the Commons today to launch a full-dress emergency debate on the CBC's intention to televise a controversial Easter program, The Grave, Wednesday. (See Page 18.)

Mr. Diefenbaker said advance publicity for the show has outraged religious feelings of Christians across Canada. It promises to be "a flagrant, scandalous and sacrilegious insult to the majority of Canadians."

Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled Mr. Diefenbaker's motion out of order on grounds the subject can be discussed during the budget debate later in the day.

A few minutes before Mr. Diefenbaker moved to set aside the normal business of the House, John B. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to State Secretary Lamontagne, said the program is an allegorical account in modern dress of the death and disappearance of the body of a leader.

LOS ANGELES

Mud River Flows From Hills

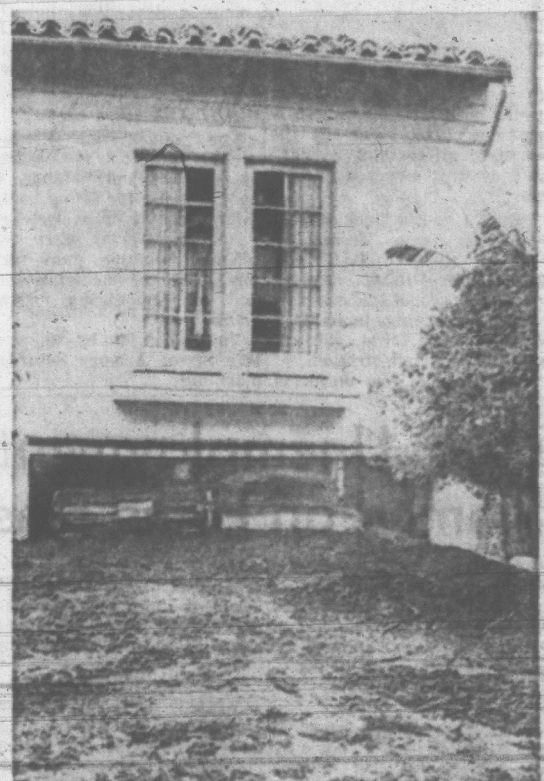

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rivers of rich, brown mud topped with debris from recent brush fires swept across streets, sidewalks and lawns here today as firemen and hillside residents fought in pouring rain to save threatened homes and cars.

Firemen in the Glendale area warned motorists Sunday night to avoid areas where a series of major brush fires denuded hills last week. Spokesmen said cars were having trouble staying on mud-slick roads.

"It's like trying to drive a car on a slippery dance floor," they said.

"Mud is coming down one street, going through the houses and moving parked cars down the street," said a Glendale fireman.

The rainfall was continuing and skies weren't expected to clear until late today.

MUCH MUD was scene at Glendale, Calif., today, as heavy rains poured onto area where brush fires burned last week. Here the mud fills driveway in from street trapping two cars, one bought only a few days ago, in a basement garage. (AP Wire photo.)

Okanagan Wins Forest Contract

TODAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A British government report on crushing during February weakened soybean futures today on the Board of Trade and losses also became general in the grains.

Setbacks in soybeans ranged to two cents or more a bushel in the early afternoon with nearly all contracts having been at their season lows at times.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most grain prices were irregular and showed some hesitation near the close of modest trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

While export business appeared generally quiet, there was shipping demand in the oats and barley markets accompanied by reports of small sales of oats and malting barley to the United Kingdom.

Flax showed periods of weakness with offerings appearing from various sources.

Previous contracts were signed on a yearly basis.

Okanagan officials said the new contract will lend additional stability to the helicopter industry in B.C. and further economic support to the firm's year-round satellite bases.

New Study Proposed In Garbage Site Row

Saanich Meeting Tonight

A technical survey of Hartland Road garbage dump should be made by Metropolitan Board of Health—the sole Greater Victoria body with any authority over the dump—Saanich councillor Harold Todd said today.

Coun. Todd, chairman of Saanich health and welfare committee, will suggest a full engineering survey when the committee sits tonight.

He said the controversial garbage dump would be the first order of business at 7:30.

REAL EYESORE

"It is certainly an eyesore,"

Coun. Todd observed.

He inspected the dump Friday following complaints by Prospect Lake Community Association that pollution, rodent and gull infestation and smoke nuisance are becoming unbearable.

Association president G. A. C. Denford said membership wants the dump closed permanently. There are no acceptable remedial measures, he said.

Coun. Todd pointed out that Saanich cannot act alone in the matter. Not only is the dump in unorganized territory and beyond the control of any municipality, but Victoria, Central Saanich and Sidney also use the disposal ground.

At the same time, he noted, Metro Health Board can control only from a sanitary point of view, air pollution and unsightliness notwithstanding.

LOSE REVENUE

If Victoria—the biggest user—withdraws its garbage, the disposal firm operating the dump would lose considerable revenue, Coun. Todd said.

"But I can't see Victoria going to the expense of building a $2 or $3 million disposal plant," he said.

Perhaps a system such as used at Highland Sanitary Centre Ltd., on Millstream Road, could be used, the councillor suggested. All garbage fed into this disposal area is incinerated and residue used for land fill.

Victoria, meanwhile, has asked for an interim report by Metro Health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, who is also expected to discuss the matter in a letter to Saanich health committee tonight.

Fire Threatens Ship

Quick work by navy firemen prevented heavy damage to the HMCS Ottawa when a welding machine caused a fire aboard the ship Sunday.

The Ottawa is undergoing refit and is at the government graving dock in Esquimalt.

Strikers Scour Esquimalt Parks For Lost Girl

Striking shipyard workers were scouring parks in Esquimalt this morning looking for a 12-year-old girl missing from her home since Sunday morning.

Sandra Lalonde, 1342 Esquimalt Road, was last seen at the Esquimalt Sports Centre shortly after 4 p.m. When she failed to show up at home later the police were asked to look for her.

The shipyard workers, who are out on strike at present, heard of the search and offered to help. Their search today was concentrated on the high-rock natural park opposite Lampson Street School which Sandra attended.

She is described as looking older than her age, about 5'6" tall, weighing approximately 115 pounds and with light brown hair and fair complexion.

When last seen she was wearing an olive green car coat with a white fur collar and black slacks.

Stricken Sailor Reaches Hospital

A 48-year-old seaman is in "fairly good" condition today in St. Joseph's Hospital after he suffered a heart attack Saturday aboard the navy's auxiliary vessel Oshawa.

James Hay of 477 Joffre became ill and forced the ship to return to port.

CHICKEN PIE

Navy cooks Able Seaman K. J. Dorosh and Leading Seaman L. G. Bagley, both of Victoria, put up chicken pie, cakes, meat loaf and beef and delivered them over a three-day period.

Able Seaman Brendon C. F. Smith of Montreal also helped out with feeding. His wife, Brenda, herself, a Red Cross nurse, joined in during the emergency even though she was pregnant.

Leading Seaman R. H. Petrie, Victoria, whose father, Dr. R. M. Petrie is director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Saanich, helped out in the wards and showed that his early training in "swabbing the decks" was not wasted.

And most of the naval personnel at the base escaped the epidemic.

QUEEN JAN

'Did I Ever Feel Like a Celebrity!'

Victoria's "Daffodil Queen," 18-year-old Jan Laidlaw, is enjoying an exciting whirl of activity.

The University of Victoria education student who became Queen on Friday evening is now in Ontario telling one and all about Vancouver Island's daffodil industry and Victoria's Spring Flower Festival.

The idea, of course, is to promote the golden blossoms as well as tourist travel here.

Queen Jan is sending the Times daily reports on her trip. Here is the first:

By JAN LAIDLAW

TORONTO—I just can't believe it is all happening to me.

This morning (Sunday) at six o'clock Victoria time which is really 9 o'clock Ontario time I got up at home.

And tonight I'm in the largest hotel in the British Empire. I ate in the largest dining room I've ever seen and had the 'biggest and the nicest steak.'

The trip from Victoria was simply marvellous. The air was smooth and the big DC8 seemed to whisk us here in no time at all. And did I feel like a celebrity when we landed!

JUST MISSED LIZ

There were photographers and an interview and everyone was just wonderful to me. And to think, I missed seeing Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton who left just a couple of hours before I got here.

One of the really exciting things I've seen so far is the new Toronto International Airport itself. It is absolutely amazing—and the traffic is incredible.

Toronto, as much as I've seen of it, is big and sprawling. And Lake Ontario looks as big as the ocean. Already I've had a ride on the subway and had a glimpse of Maple Leaf Gardens from the outside and a walk down Yonge Street to look at the stores. And this has happened in less than 12 hours. I still can't believe it.

IT'S COLD

It was sunny when we got here but it is rather cold tonight and not at all like home.

In spite of all the glamor of travelling here I'm sure that there is no place quite like Victoria and my chaperone, Mrs. Joan Fraser, agrees.

And, of course, I can't thank enough all those responsible for making my trip possible. It is proving to be the biggest thrill of my life, especially since I've never been out of B.C. before.

Tomorrow I meet the mayor and do a TV appearance and then a radio interview so it looks like another busy day. I'll tell you all about it tomorrow.

LIFETIME CITY RESIDENT

Cathedral Rites Tuesday For Teacher of 50 Years

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in Christ Church Cathedral for Mrs. Mary Godson, a teacher in Greater Victoria schools for 50 years.

Mrs. Godson, a lifetime Victoria resident, died here Saturday, age 70.

She retired from her position as part-time teacher and head mistress at St. Margaret's School two years ago. She also taught at the old Boys' Central School and Victoria High School where she became a high school graduate at 14 years of age.

LIBRARY CHAIRMAN

She later studied two years at Victoria College and completed her B.A. at McGill University.

For many years she was chairman of Victoria Public Library Board and was also a past president of the University Women's Club.

She was an active member of Christ Church Cathedral.

Mrs. Godson is survived by a son, Dr. Warren L. Godson, Toronto; a daughter, Mrs. Eugene Aristoff, Philadelphia; a sister, Mrs. L. La Garde, Los Angeles, and eight grandchildren.

Overload Staggers Road-ers

The Spring Flower Festival's inter-car club automobile road-ers wilted under a heavy field of entrants and crowd control problems Sunday afternoon.

Twenty of the 48 drivers representing 12 local car clubs have still to complete the final driving skill test—negotiating a figure eight in first gear and reserve.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event at the Town and Country shopping plaza, announced the road-ers will be completed there April 5, starting at 9 a.m.

Trophies to team and individual winners will be presented by Ald. Cecil Parrott and Miss Victoria Merle Webb at 11:30 a.m.

POLICE JUDGES

Tests completed Sunday were a written exam, parking and straight line driving.

Drivers were judged by members of the four Greater Victoria municipal police departments and the staff of the provincial government's motor vehicles branch.

Although the crowd of 300 sometimes got in the way, Jaycee road-ers chairman Terry Nex was happy with the turnout.

"Events such as this and our Teen-Age Driving Road-ers usually do not get much public support. About 50 people is the usual size of the crowd," he said.

A display of six customized cars built by city hotrodders was also featured at the road-ers.

Pedestrian Cut When Hit by Car; Condition Good

A pedestrian hit by a car as he crossed Government Street Saturday night is in good condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police at first feared Raymond Whalley, 33, of 601 Raynor, was critically hurt when he was knocked down near Cormorant Street.

He suffered severe head cuts, a gash on his hip and leg injuries.

Police identified the driver of the car as Joseph Deveau, 3926 Quadra.

CATCH AS CATCH CAN

Only catch of the day Sunday for fisherman Alex M. Watt, 2776 Thompson, was this "perch" high atop Harris Reef, near Oak Bay Marina Sunday. It was a lucky catch, however, as Mr. Watt said his craft might have capsized "if I had been blown two feet more to the south." His 28-foot cabin cruiser became trapped in a tide rip and drifted onto the reef, aided by a stiff north wind. Marina staff re-floated the cruiser, which sustained light hull damage, at high tide early this morning.

World Figures Here Next Year

A top-level meeting of political scientists, statesmen and politicians that will help mould North American foreign policy will be held in Victoria next March.

The convention, plumed that will see up to 500 delegates registered for three days of talks was plucked by University of Victoria political science professor Dr. Edgar S. Efrat.

Dr. Efrat attended the 1964 convention of the Western Political Science Association which ended Saturday in Salt Lake City.

Delegates approved Victoria as locale of their 1965 convention, for which Dr. Efrat will direct arrangements.

MID-MARCH

It will be held in mid-March, the dates to be announced later.

Dr. Efrat said it is likely next year's meeting will be a joint effort of the political science association and the International Studies Association.

"There will be a top man such as Prime Minister Pearson or President Johnson to give the main address," Dr. Efrat said.

In addition there will be many highly-rated university presidents and professors and general representation of politicians.

This year's key speaker was U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who outlined the aims and purposes of America's foreign policy.

Prof. Frank H. Jonas, of the department of political science at University of Utah, was elected association president.

$704 TAKE STOLEN FROM HOTEL

All of Saturday's take at the Cherry Bank Hotel, a total of $704 in small bills and change, was stolen overnight Saturday.

The money had been kept in a hiding place in the liquor store room. Thieves broke into the building at 825 Burdett through an unlocked window in the women's washroom.

They forced a door to get into the store room. As well as the money they took five bottles of liquor. The theft was discovered by a janitor when he went to work Sunday morning.

50 Expected At Workshop On Color Plan

About 50 property owners and merchants in the Government-Causeway "tourist row" are expected to turn out to the first workshop session of the city's downtown paint-up program Wednesday afternoon.

Detailed explanation of the city's efforts to promote a paint-up program and a building-by-building color plan for the 13-block tourist area will be discussed with the businessmen by city officials.

Follow-up visits to the businessmen by a joint committee of City Hall, Victoria Real Estate Board and Junior Chamber of Commerce also is planned.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Electric Club: 12:05, Crest Motel; Saanich Juvenile Officer Harry Adams, Juvenile Problems Within Our Community.

Victoria Kiwanis Club: 12:10, Empress Hotel; Canon Hilary Butler, "The Meaning of the Resurrection."

Victoria North Kiwanis Club: 6:15, Tally-Ho; official visit of Kiwanis Lt.-Gov. R. D. Bryan.

WATCHING, LISTENING

"We have been in touch with Mr. Ray Peters, president of CHAN-TV, by long-distance telephone and expect a full report from him by letter in the next few days."

"It is also possible that a member of the board will travel to Vancouver and Victoria for an on-the-spot inquiry if this seems necessary."

City Sailors at Masset Doubled As Red Cross Hands in Flu Bout

The Canadian Red Cross, Masset on the Queen Charlotte Islands. And the Royal Canadian Navy jumped right in with happy results.

Most of the 1,800 persons in

Masset fell victim to the epidemic, resulting in the reopening of the Red Cross hospital.

A doctor and two nurses were brought in but within a week they were run off their feet. Most of the patients were either very young or very old Indians and required considerable attention.

The navy, which maintains a radio station at Masset, asked for volunteers to stand tricks in the wards and help out with the feeding. The sailors quickly responded and soon became adept at caring for their bedridden charges. They even supplied entertainment when the situation eased off after a time.

CHICKEN PIE

Navy cooks Able Seaman K. J. Dorosh and Leading Seaman L. G. Bagley, both of Victoria, put up chicken pie, cakes, meat loaf and beef and delivered them over a three-day period.

Able Seaman Brendon C. F. Smith of Montreal also helped out with feeding. His wife, Brenda, herself, a Red Cross nurse, joined in during the emergency even though she was pregnant.

Topics of the Day

A man who stole a blouse and letters belong to another resident in the block where he lived was remanded to March 31 for sentence when he appeared in court today.

Wilfred V. Lowe, 710 Fort, told police he took the articles while on a bender. He said he didn't remember what he did with the blouse.

Magistrate William Oster decided to obtain a probation report before sentencing the accused.

Richard J. Miller, HMCS Naden, today was fined $300 and lost his licence for impaired driving. He was arrested by Saanich police Saturday night after he narrowly missed hitting an oncoming car on Quadra near North Park Street.

Members of the Shipwrights', Joiners' and Caulkers' Union (local 9) will vote Tuesday on the latest company proposal for a shipyard strike settlement.

The vote will be at 7:30 p.m. in the union hall, 715 Johnson Street.

Result of the vote will be known Thursday.

The "big three" companies have offered a four-year contract of 40 cents in an attempt to end the seven-week strike.

Three Red Cross blood donor clinics will be held this week. Clinics will be held Tuesday and Thursday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 p.m. both days at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street.

A third clinic will be held Wednesday at Work Point Barracks from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Ask The Times

Q: Could you tell me if the French Foreign Legion is still in existence? D.T.

A: Yes it is but its forces were cut back from 15,000 to 9,000 men last summer as it is no longer needed to keep watch over a non-existent French empire.

Of its present force, 3,000 have formed a "legion of builders," which is a huge public works enterprise at the disposal of underdeveloped African countries.

Another 3,500 with paratrooper training were integrated into the French army and the remainder staff seven African outposts, five of which are in Algeria.

The Legion used to receive an average of 700 applications a month from rejected suitors or men who wished these have now declined to about 100.

The Legion is now in its 132nd year.

'Beautiful Turn'
... Then Disaster

(See story page 11)
PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—John Shaw stood in his front yard, answering his wife's wave from the plane overhead.
Then the aircraft started into a turn, spun out of control, and dropped.
Mrs. Theodore Westfall was unaware that her husband, an amateur pilot, was in the plane but she, too, noticed it from a point a mile away.
Both learned with horror that the single-engine Trojan craft had slammed into a house in this Okanagan city.
Mrs. Blanche Shaw, 36, died instantly. Westfall, 34, was in critical condition today with multiple injuries.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hillman, both in the house at the time, somehow escaped injury.
"They promised they would come and fly over the house and I was waiting for them out in the yard," said Shaw, a saw-mill worker.
"They made a beautiful turn. Ted is a good flier. They started to make a second turn. It looked perfectly good to me but they must have been caught in a downdraft."
"I followed the plane with my eyes as it crashed into the house. The whole thing looked unreal."
Mrs. Westfall, at home with five children aged 10 years to 20 months, said she did not think the plane was piloted by her husband.
"I saw this plane do a couple of stunts and I waited for it to reappear at the other side of the valley. When it didn't I knew something had happened... I knew he'd gone to the airport but he usually flies a small green plane, not as big as the one I watched."

She said her husband, a mechanic, has a private pilot's licence and has been flying for about five years.
Mr. Hillman said:
"I don't know how we avoided being killed." The engine of the plane dropped into a bedroom, he said, and "it couldn't have been more than four feet from me on the other side of the wall."
Firemen used fog nozzles on their hoses to cut down the danger of sparks during the 35 minutes it took to free Westfall and Mrs. Shaw's body.
Eldon MacEachern whose Rapidair Service owned the plane, said he believed Westfall stalled in a tight turn.

U THANT AT GENEVA

Trade Plan Urged
For Poor Nations

GENEVA (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant appealed today for new patterns of planning world trade that would raise the living standards of the poor countries.

He said the Communist world should be allowed to play a larger role in the international marketplace.

"How long shall we permit blind economic forces to control human relations?" he asked at the opening of a massive UN conference on trade and development.

His speech soft-pedaled the classical methods of reciprocal trade deals being pressed here by the United States and some of its industrialized trading partners.

Thant concentrated instead on the needs of the have-not countries and said they could only be met by over-all planning of world trade to counter the underdeveloped countries' loss of income.

LAY GROUNDWORK

The Secretary General said he expects the conference to lay the groundwork for new trade policies and work out some sort of instrumentality for carrying them out. This was an apparent allusion to a Communist proposal for a new international trade organization under the United Nations—firmly opposed by the west.

"The emergence of the socialist countries, already advanced on the road to industrialization, as gradually expanding trading nations, has created strong reasons for their fuller integration into the international economy," Thant said.

He told trade ministers and other leading delegates from more than 120 nations:
"You can hardly do less than provide mankind, both in the under-developed and in the developed countries with a framework of principles and active policy to make a trade a real vehicle of progress toward economic development and thus help to secure universal prosperity and peace for this and succeeding generations."
Thant flew here from New York to open the conference.

TROUBLE WITH FAMILY

Lawyer Leaves Ruby Case

DALLAS (AP)—Houston lawyer Percy Foreman said today he was pulling out of the Jack Ruby case because of disagreements with members of Ruby's family. Foreman took over from Melvin Bell as chief defence counsel for the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald late last week.
Foreman said the disagreement was over his relations with the press.
He said Eve Grant, one of Ruby's sisters, advised him to limit his discussions with reporters to "no comment." Foreman said he thought that was wrong.

The 61-year-old lawyer had met with Ruby Sunday for the first time since agreeing last Thursday to take over the defence of the killer of President Kennedy's accused assassin.
He had said he would meet again today with Ruby, 32-year-old night club operator who was found guilty of murder with malice and given the

Worked For Weeks
On Wall

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Methodical thieves cleaned out more than 100 safety deposit boxes during the weekend after burrowing through three-foot-thick walls into a branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

A vault containing the bank's own funds was not touched.
An official of the bank at the head office in Toronto said it will probably take three days before an estimate can be made of how much was stolen, but police said a large amount was involved.

Police said the thieves may have worked for weeks or months, digging through the wall into the bank from a vacant store adjoining the bank on Bridge Street, one block north of city police headquarters on the fringe of downtown Niagara Falls.

Police said the thieves, working from a washroom in the store, removed bricks individually and carefully stacked them as they worked through the wall. They then used acetylene torches to cut through steel plate three-eighths inches thick on the vault.

They opened a hole about two feet square in the vault wall and pushed aside safe-deposit boxes lining the vault at that point to gain entry.

They then opened every safe-deposit box in the vault and cleaned out everything in them.

Bank officials declined to say exactly how many boxes were broken into, but conceded that more than 100 were involved.

WAITS APPROVAL

Finn Named
To Mediate
In Cyprus

GENEVA (UPI)—UN Secretary-General Thant today asked Finnish diplomat Sakari Tuomioja to become UN political mediator on Cyprus.

Authoritative sources said Tuomioja, the 52-year-old Finnish ambassador to Sweden, accepted the job, pending approval from the British, Turkish and Greek governments.

The sources said Thant will begin soon to win that approval.

Thant and Tuomioja met for 90 minutes today at UN European headquarters here. After the meeting Thant confirmed that "we discussed the question of naming a mediator."

Thant also conferred with Indian General Prem Singh Gyani, the military commander of the United Nations peace force on Cyprus.

The secretary-general held talks on Cyprus after opening the United Nations conference on trade and development.
Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios is understood to be willing to accept Tuomioja as mediator.

Tuomioja, however, has far declined to make his own views public. Asked whether he would accept the job, he said he would not comment until after his meeting with Thant.
